PUBLISHERS' PREFACE.

ABOUT two years ago the first issue of the MICHIGAN STATE GAZETTEER AND BUSINESS DIRECTORY was presented to the public and was received with decided favor. The plan of the work was to give a succinct description of every city, village and hamlet in the State, with lists of the firms and individuals doing business at each. The hope was to establish such a permanent biennial publication as would fully meet the wants of the business community and protect them from the catch-penny swindles which, under the pretense of being State and local directories, were being commonly employed by unscrupulous adventurers to rake in a temporary harvest of profits. The first issue having proved an eminent success, notwithstanding the losses and delays occasioned by the burning of the office at which the printing was being done, and where a large portion of the sheets were stored, the publishers are prompt with the second issue according to the original programme.

In the present volume it has been sought in every possible way to improve on that of 1873. A much larger number of places have been individually canvassed; all the sketches and descriptions have been re-written from fresh and original material, the former work having been in no sense copied in this; the lists of business houses and professional men are very much more complete, embracing as they do not less than thirty thousand different names; a township map of the State corrected up to the latest moment has been inserted; a complete Shipper's Guide has been added, and a number of other minor features introduced or improved upon, all tending to render the work much more complete and valuable than its predecessor.

No unforseen event preventing, in due time a third issue will appear, in which still further improvement will be honestly, conscientiously and energetically attempted, though even now it is believed there is no similar publication in the United States in every respect as complete and reliable as this.

Much, but not all, of the editorial work of this volume has been done by Mr. James E. Scripps, editor of The Evening News, of this city, and one of the original projectors of the scheme. The entire general management of the work, both financial and editorial, has been in the hands of Mr Ralph L. Polk, who jointly with Mr. Scripps edited and compiled the former issue. Mr. Polk as one of the publishers of the Detroit City Directory and the proprietor of several similar publications in various western cities, brings to the work an immense fund of practical experience with an established reputation. The printing has been done by Mr. William A. Scripps, whose specialty is book printing and whose facilities and standing are second to those of no other office in the State. To the postmasters of Michigan the thanks of the publishers are due for, in many instances, quite valuable assistance.

Neither have the publishers in this, nor shall they in any future issues of the State Gazetteer, ask or authorize the collection of any moneys in advance or until the delivery of the book. They are led to mention this here, from the fact that intimations have come to them that parties have fraudulently represented themselves as acting for the State Gazetteer, and have solicited payment for books and advertising.

THE TRIBUNE PRINTING COMPANY.

THE DETROIT TRIBUNE.

The Great Michigan Newspaper.

In its various editions the DETROIT TRIBUNE has become a constant visitor in every nook and corner of the State.

THE DETROIT DAILY TRIBUNE

Circulates largely among the most enterprising business classes of the State—the merchants, bankers, manufacturers, professional men, and large dealers of every kind. Its full telegraphic and general news, its unrivalled commercial department (the most accurate and reliable for Detroit quotations in the State), its State news (in which it far surpasses any other journal in Michigan), and its fair and candid editorial discussion of all topics of public concern—all combine to make it what it unquestionably is—the most popular and widely-read newspaper that is published in Michigan. Terms to mail subscribers, $10.60 per year; $5.30 for six months; $2.65 for three months, postage included.

THE TRI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE,

Published every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday morning, contains almost all the matter that is contained in the daily edition. It circulates extensively among the less heavy class of dealers, and is found in all parts of the State. Terms, $5.30 per year; $2.65 for six months; $1.35 for three months, postage included.

The Detroit Weekly Tribune,

The largest newspaper in the State, and having a circulation more than twice as large as that of any other Detroit paper. It is rare that a journal attains so great popularity throughout an entire State as has the WEEKLY TRIBUNE. It probably is found in every school district within the bounds of Michigan. It contains the cream of the news of the Daily paper, an Agricultural Department prepared expressly for its columns by an experienced and practical agriculturist, choice stories, poetry, literary selections, etc., furnishing weekly a bill of fare for its readers that is not equaled by any other paper in the North-west. Terms, $2 per year, postage paid. Club rates can be ascertained (when clubs are raised), on application at the office.

THE MICHIGAN ALMANAC,

An annual publication of about 100 pages, all the matter original and prepared expressly for it. Its astronomical department has been furnished for several years by Prof. J. C. Watson, professor of Astronomy at the University of Michigan. Its other departments contain elaborate political and statistical tables and facts relating in the main to Michigan. The circulation of this popular hand-book is increasing steadily from year to year, as it is rapidly rising in favor among all classes to whom its important and timely statistics have become invaluable, and with whom it has become a manual of constant reference. Price 15 cents.

All the above publications are to be had by addressing

TERMS OF COURT IN MICHIGAN.

THE SUPREME COURT.

Chief Justice—Benjamin F. Graves, Battle Creek.

Associate Justices—Thomas M. Cooley, Ann Arbor; James V. Campbell, Detroit; Isaac Marsten, Bay City.

Reporter—Hoyt Post, Detroit.

The salary of each Justice of the Supreme Court is $4,000. The Court holds four terms annually in Lansing, commencing on the first Tuesdays in January, April, July and October.

THE CIRCUIT COURTS.

First—Daniel L. Pratt, of Hillsdale, Judge. Terms of Court commence as follows:

Lenawee County—Third Tuesday of January, fourth Tuesday of March, third Tuesday of June, first Tuesday of November.

Monroe County—Third Tuesday of February, first Tuesday of May, third Tuesday of September, first Tuesday of December.

Hillsdale County—First Tuesday of March, third Tuesday of May, first Tuesday of October, third Tuesday of December.

Second—Henry H. Coolidge, of Niles, Judge. Terms of Court commence as follows:

Berrien County—On Tuesday next after first day of January, and fourth Tuesdays of March, June and November.

Cass County—First Tuesdays of March, June, September and December.

Third—Jared Patchin of Detroit, Judge. Terms of Court commence in Wayne (the only county of the Circuit) on the fourth Tuesdays of January, February, April and November.

Fourth—Alexander D. Crane, of Dexter, Judge. Terms of Court commence as follows:

Jackson County—On the second Monday of January, third Monday of March, second Monday of June, and first Monday of October.

Ingham County—On the second Tuesday of February, and fourth Tuesdays of April, June and October.

Washtenaw County—On the fourth Mondays of February and May, second Monday of September, and fourth Monday of November.

Fifth—George Woodruff, of Marshall, Judge. Terms of Court commence as follows:

Calhoun County—First Monday of March, second Monday of May, third Monday of September, and second Monday of November.

Eaton County—First Monday of February, second Monday of April, second Monday of June, and second Monday of December.

Sixth—Levi B. Taft, of Pontiac, Judge. Terms of Court commence as follows:

Oakland County—Fourth Monday in March, third Monday in June, third Monday in September, second Monday in December.

Lapeer County—First Tuesday in March, the last Tuesday in May, first Tuesday in September, fourth Tuesday in November.

Seventh—Josiah Turner, of Owosso, Judge. Terms of Court commence as follows:

Tuscola County—First Tuesdays of January, April, June and October.

Livingston County—Second Tuesdays of January, April and June, and fourth Tuesday of September.

Shiawassee County—First Tuesdays of February and May, and the second Tuesdays of September and December.

Allegan County—First Tuesdays of February, April, September and November.

Ottawa County—Second Tuesdays of January, March and August, and third Tuesday of October.

MICHIGAN.

Of the thirty-seven states forming the Union, Michigan is the twenty-sixth in order of admission, the eleventh in size and the thirteenth in population.

GENERAL DESCRIPTION.

Michigan is situated with reference to the older portion of the country, or that part lying west of the Missouri, about midway between that river and the Atlantic seaboard, and is adjacent to the northern boundary line of the country. In latitude it extends from 41° 40′ to 47° 35′ north, or covers about the same range in this respect as New York and the New England states. In longitude it extends from 82° 23′ west of Greenwich to 90° 30′ west, corresponding nearly to Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama and Georgia.

It is popularly known as the "Peninsula State" from its being almost entirely surrounded by the waters of the great lakes, possessing in fact a greater extent of shore line than any other State in the Union. It consists of two detached peninsulas, the lower of which is bounded by Lake Michigan on the west, Lake Huron and the Straits of Mackinac on the north, lakes Huron, St. Clair and Erie on the east, and the states of Ohio and Indiana on the South. The upper peninsula is bounded on the north by Lake Superior, on the south by lakes Michigan and Huron and the Straits of Mackinac, and extends from the Montreal river on the west to the St. Mary's river on the east. The lower peninsula is about twice the size of the upper. Altogether the State contains an area of 56,451 square miles and contains according to the census of 1874, a population of 1,334,031.

The southern portion of the lower peninsula consists of excellent farming lands, unsurpassed for grain and fruit culture. Coal, limestone, gypsum and salt also are abundant. The northern half of this peninsula leads all other sections of the Union in the extent of its pine forests, which are to a very large extent still untouched. The upper peninsula is rough and rocky, approaching in some parts to the mountainous. It possesses a thin unpromising soil, and though there is plenty of timber it is generally of an inferior quality. The great wealth of this region lies in its iron and copper deposits, which are probably surpassed in richness no where in the world. Michigan is thus immensely rich in natural resources, probably embracing a wider range in this respect even than the wealthiest of her sister states.

The name of this state is said to be a corruption of Michaw-Sagegan, the Chippewa expression for "Great Lake."

HISTORY.

The region now forming the State of Michigan was visited by French explorers as early as 1610. The lower peninsula was circumnavigated by Marquette and Joliet in 1673. The earliest settlements were those at Mackinac and Sault Ste Marie, followed soon after by that at Detroit. This was in 1701. Another important settlement was at the mouth of the St. Joseph river, on Lake Michigan. These settlements were maintained in part as trading posts and in part as Catholic mission stations for the conversion of the Indians. The interior was little if at all explored.

In 1760, as the result of the so-called "French war," all the French possessions in the north were transferred to the British crown. The Revolutionary war gave Michigan to the United States, but it was not till the supplemental treaty of 1796 that possession was fully given. It was then incorporated into the northwestern territory, which included everything north of the Ohio river. In 1802 Ohio became a State, and the remainder of the former Northwestern territory became the Territory of Indiana. In 1805 this was divided and the territories of Michigan and Illinois organized. Subsequently Wisconsin, then spelled Ouisconsin, was attached to Michigan.

The first considerable cession of lands to the government by the Indians was in 1807, when the present counties of Monroe, Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, St. Clair, and perhaps some others adjacent were thrown open to settlement. In 1811 the population of the territory was 4,860, mostly of French origin.

The war of 1812 gave Michigan again to the British, but it was only for one year, when it was recovered by Gen. Harrison. In the course of the next ten years villages began to be located in the interior, Utica in 1817, Mt. Clemens and Pontiac in 1818, and Flint and Port Huron in 1819.

In 1821 the Indian title was extinguished to all the territory south of Grand river, and immediately there commenced a rage for settlement and speculation in lands.

Saginaw City was founded in 1822, Dexter and Ypsilanti in 1823, Ann Arbor, Tecumseh and Grand Rapids in 1824, Adrian and Royal Oak in 1825, Sturgis in 1827, Niles and Constantine in 1828, and Grass Lake, Coldwater, Cassopolis, St. Joseph and Kalamazoo in 1829.

Originally the entire settled portion of the State was embraced in the county of Wayne. Monroe county was set off as a separate county in 1817, Macomb followed in 1818, Oakland was the next in 1820, and St. Clair in 1821. In 1826 the counties of Lenawee and Chippewa were organized, and in 1829 Cass and St. Joseph counties.

The next decade was one of rapid settlement and wild speculation. Kalamazoo county was organized in 1830, Berrien in 1831, Jackson in 1832, Branch and Calhoun in 1833, Hillsdale, Allegan and Saginaw in 1835, Washtenaw, Genesee, Livingston and Kent in 1836, Van Buren, Ottawa, Ionia, Eaton and Shiawassee in 1837, Ingham and Clinton in 1838, and Barry in 1839.

In 1834 the population of the territory was 87,273, and the following year a constitutional convention met with reference to the organization of a state government. A quarrel with Ohio concerning the boundary line prevented the admission of Michigan, however, and it was not till January, 1837, that Michigan finally became an independent State.

In this year, 1837, a free banking law was passed, which led to the establishment of hosts of wild cat banks in this State. These, though for a time they stimulated business and aided the development of the State, brought great disaster a few months later.

The first railroad chartered was the Detroit & St Joseph in 1831, but it was 1838 before any part of the road (now the Michigan Central) was completed and in operation. The Erie & Kalamazoo had meanwhile (in 1836) been completed between Toledo and Adrian. The Detroit & Pontiac was chartered in 1834 and completed to Royal Oak in 1838, and in the same or following year, the Detroit & Shelby Railroad was completed to Utica, several other roads were chartered and some partly constructed.

In 1837 the legislature provided for a complete system of internal improvements, embracing three railroads stretching across the State, and several canal and slack-water navigation enterprises. These works involved the young State in serious financial embarrassments, and for a time gave it a bad reputation in the money centers of the world.

In 1845 the mineral wealth of the Upper Peninsula was first brought into notice.

In 1846 the Michigan Central and Michigan Southern Railroads were sold by the State to private companies.

In 1847 the capital was transferred from Detroit to Lansing.

In 1850 the present constitution was adopted.

In 1856 the United States made a valuable grant of lands to certain projected railroads in this State, the result of which has been the construction of the Jackson, Lansing & Saginaw the Flint & Pere Marquette, the Grand Rapids & Indiana, and the Peninsular Division of the Chicago & Northwestern Railroads.

In 1858 the Detroit & Milwaukee Railroad was completed to Grand Haven.

In 1859 salt was first successfully made in this State.

The war of the rebellion caused a stagnation for a few years in the material growth of the State, but at its close Michigan took a fresh start and for ten years past development has been very rapid in every respect. Population has increased from 805,379 in 1864 to 1,334,031 in 1874, railroad mileage has increased from about 900 miles in 1865 to 3313 miles in 1875. In the four southern tiers of counties the mileage of railroad in proportion to the population is twice as great as in the well developed State of Massachusetts. In these ten years settlements have pushed far up into the wilderness, comprising the northern half of the lower peninsula. Villages have been located and townships and counties organized very much with the rapidity that prevailed in the decade between 1830 and 1840. Mining and manufacturing interests have been greatly extended and the wealth of the State immensely increased.

WEALTH AND RESOURCES.

It is to be regretted that the results of the official census of 1874 which should furnish exact statistics have never yet been prepared for publication, and are studiously kept from the public. Means of reliable information in regard to production are therefore unfortunately in some cases very limited. It is known, however, that the lower peninsula is becoming one of the largest grain producing regions in the West. Of wheat alone over a million and a quarter of acres are now grown annually, the crop of 1874 being put down at 19,115,000 bushels. Large as this is the corn crop surpasses it, the yield for 1874 being 20,793,000 bushels. Other grains are raised to a less extent, the total combined yield of oats, rye, barley and buckwheat being 13,210,000 bushels.

The fruit product is difficult to arrive at but in value it runs up into the millions.

Hay also is an important agricultural product, and potatoes are quite a staple crop. The latter are largely shipped south.

Dairying is also largely attended to in this State, cheese factories being quite numerous in the southern tiers of counties. No definite statistics of the product are attainable, but there is good authority for stating the annual product of butter at 28,000,000 pounds.

Sheep raising has been largely practiced, though perhaps relatively less in the last few years than previously. The present annual clip does not vary much from 8,000,000 pounds, and mostly of very choice grades.

The fisheries of Michigan are no small source of wealth. The census of 1870 puts them down as 243 in number, employing an equivalent to 388 hands for twelve months in the year, and yielding in value near $600,000 of product.

Plaster or gypsum is mined at Grand Rapids and at Alabaster, on the shore of Lake Huron. It is easily taken out and the supply is equal to any possible demand for generations to come, even without further discoveries. According to the census of 1870 two plaster beds gave employment to seventy hands and produced plaster to the value of $131,400, but this must be very much below the present yield.

Limestone is found in great abundance everywhere, and quarries of valuable building stone are not infrequent. Marquette furnishes a brown sandstone very popular in Chicago and other western cities for fronts of buildings. On the shore of lake Huron also there are valuable quarries of stone, out of which the finest grindstones and whetstones are manufactured.

Rich slate quarries have lately been opened on the shore of lake Superior, but they are new and but little developed as yet.

Coal is very abundant in the central portion of the lower peninsula, but except at Jackson and to a less extent at one or two other points, has never yet been mined on any large scale.

At almost any point in the southern part of the State, flowing wells can be had by boring a few hundred feet, and the waters thus obtained are in nearly every instance found to possess valuable medicinal properties, varying, however, in different localities. The most important of these mineral waters are found at Mt. Clemens, St. Louis, Lansing and Eaton Rapids, though there are perhaps twenty other places where the waters are equally as valuable.

Salt wells are secured by boring anywhere along the Saginaw river, and also in parts of Huron county. Saginaw already rivals Syracuse in the salt markets of the country. The annual product is over 1,000,000 barrels.

The iron deposits of Marquette county are very extensive, if not wholly inexhaustible. There are about 34 mines in operation, the yield of which for 1874, was about 900,000 tons, and this was much below the product of 1873, owing to the prevailing stagnation in the iron market. The iron is mined from the surface, the ore is very rich, and the metal produced from it of a very superior quality.

The copper mines of Michigan are in the counties of Houghton, Keweenaw and Ontonagon, principally in the first named. The aggregate product for 1874 was near 22,000 tons, valued at $9,000,000. Unlike the iron, the copper is mined at great depths, some of the mines being down over 1,000 feet. The copper is found in a pure state, sometimes in large masses weighing several tons. There are 32 mines in operation.

MANUFACTURES.

With such immense natural resources, with such ample advantages for shipment, and with streams everywhere affording water power, in some instances of almost unlimited extent, as might naturally be expected Michigan is peculiarly a manufacturing State. The State census of 1874 should supply some statistics of these industrial interests, but unfortunately the facts and figures are locked up in the Secretary of State's office, with no prospect of their being published until their value is lost by age, and they have become comparatively useless to the public as a source of information. Going back to the census of 1870, the following very incomplete statistics are obtained:

	Number of Establishments	Capital Employed.	No. of hands employed reduced to full time.	Wages paid per annum.	Value of manufactured product.
Lumber	1506	$26,355,816	10,893	$6,364,519	$33,169,066
Flouring Mills	512	6,938,830	1,201	679,831	19,061,356
Foundries and Machine Shops	221	16,895,325	2,968	1,751,325	5,688,846
Tanneries	101	1,340,500	682	312,770	2,557,043
Breweries	127	1,355,741	332	162,908	1,200,326
Cheese Factories	30	86,050	33	13,000	219,288

*There are now two Rolling Mills.

It will be observed that the leading manufacturing interest is that of lumber. As the pineries of Maine, New York and Pennsylvania have become exhausted, Michigan is looked to not only for the best grades of lumber, but for the most abundant supply. The business has increased immensely since 1870, the date of the above statistics, the product being shipped to every part of the country.

The table above given shows a manufactured product in 13 branches alone equal to about $75,000,000. Most of these branches of manufacture, however, have vastly increased within the five years that have elapsed since the census was taken, and many other very important branches are wholly omitted. Among these latter may be mentioned ship building, car building, wagon and carriage building, the manufacture of staves and barrels, furniture, sash, doors and blinds, handles, wooden ware, wooden bowls, agricultural implements, organs, billiard tables, mouldings and frames, matches, steam boilers, fire and burglar proof safes, stoves, brass work and plumbers' fittings, galvanized iron work for buildings, hemlock extract, boots and shoes, cider and vinegar, preserved fruits, tobacco and cigars, cotton fabrics, paper, bleaching salts and other chemicals, sheet copper, brick, etc., all of which are carried on very extensively in various portions of the State. At a rough estimate the State of Michigan must turn out manufactured goods to the value of some hundreds of millions of dollars annually.

OTHER INTERESTS.

Michigan is thus rapidly growing in population and wealth. Its cities and villages are marked by evidences of thrift and prosperity. Churches are scattered everywhere and there is no settled portion of the state that is not supplied with common schools. Indeed Michigan is eminently proud of her school system. Besides the common and graded, and high schools, there are colleges at Adrian, Hillsdale, Kalamazoo, Olivet, Albion, Holland and Benzonia, an agricultural college at Lansing, a normal school at Ypsilanti, two medical colleges at Detroit, and crowning all, a University at Ann Arbor, which, in standard of scholarship, number of students and general usefulness, ranks with Harvard and Yale, as one of the best in the country.

The benevolent and reformatory institutions of the state are numerous and in a healthy and vigorous condition. They include a state public school for pauper children, a reform school for incorrigible boys, an intermediate prison for minor offenders, and a state prison for the more hardened class of criminals. There are also two insane asylums (one now building), an institution for the deaf, dumb and blind, a system of free public libraries, and other institutions indicative of the most advanced civilization.

Lansing is the capital of the State, Detroit its commercial metropolis. For full descriptions of these and every other city, village and hamlet in the state, reference is had to the ensuing pages of this work.

THE CHICAGO AND NORTHWESTERN RAILWAY

Embraces under one management the Great Trunk Railway lines of the WEST and NORTHWEST, and, with its numerous branches and connections, forms the

SHORTEST AND QUICKEST ROUTE BETWEEN CHICAGO AND ALL POINTS IN ILLINOIS, WISCONSIN, NORTHERN MICHIGAN, MINNESOTA, IOWA, NEBRASKA, CALIFORNIA AND THE WESTERN TERRITORIES,

San Francisco.	Denver,	Minneapolis,	Winona,	Ishpeming,	Stevens Point,
Sacramento.	Omaha,	Cedar Rapids,	St. Paul,	Negaunee,	Oshkosh,
Ogden,	Council Bluffs,	Dubuque,	Duluth,	Escanaba,	Madison,
Salt Lake City,	Yankton,	La Crosse,	Marquette,	Green Bay,	Milwaukee,
Cheyenne,	Sioux City,	Prairie du Chien,	L'Anse,	Menasha,

Are all on the line of this Great Road, or are reached by this Route with less changes of cars than by any other.

On the arrival of the trains from the East or South, the trains of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway

LEAVE CHICAGO AS FOLLOWS:

For Council Bluffs, Omaha and California. Two through trains daily, with Pullman Palace Drawing Room and Sleeping Cars, through to Council Bluffs.

For St. Paul and Minneapolis. Two through trains daily, with Pullman Palace Cars attached on both trains.

For Green Bay and Lake Superior. Two trains daily, with Pullman Palace Cars attached, and running through to Marquette.

For Milwaukee. Four through trains daily. Pullman Cars on the night trains.

For Winona and points in Minnesota. One through train daily.

For Dubuque, via Freeport. Two through trains daily, with Pullman Cars on night train.

For Dubuque and La Crosse, via Clinton. Two through trains daily, with Pullman Cars on night train.

For Sioux City and Yankton. Two trains daily Pullman Cars to Missouri Valley Junction.

For Lake Geneva. Four trains daily.

For Rockford, Kenosha, Sterling, Janesville and other points, you can have from two to ten trains daily.

PULLMAN PALACE SLEEPING CARS run over all the lines of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway Company, between CHICAGO and OMAHA, CEDAR RAPIDS, DUBUQUE, FREEPORT, MILWAUKEE, ST. PAUL, FOND DU LAC, GREEN BAY, and MARQUETTE. They connect at OMAHA with

THROUGH SLEEPING CARS FOR SAN FRANCISCO.

This great corporation now operates over two thousand (2,000) miles of its own road, and has "running arrangements" over nearly eight hundred miles of road owned by other companies. Taking CHICAGO as its starting point, the various lines owned by this Company radiate north, northwest, and west, like the fingers on the human hand. With one line it reaches MILWAUKEE, FOND DU LAC, GREEN BAY, and MARQUETTE. With another it runs through MADISON (the capital of Wisconsin), ELROY, and to ST. PAUL and MINNEAPOLIS. Another of its lines stretches far across Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, and terminates in Central Dakota. Still another runs from Chicago, through ELGIN and ROCKFORD to FREEPORT, and with connections there for Galena, Dubuque, etc. Still another line of this corporation runs northwardly through JANESVILLE, FORT ATKINSON, WATERTOWN, to Fond du Lac, and beyond. However, the greatest and most important of the roads of this Company is their Omaha and California Line, or, as it is called, "THE TRANS-CONTINENTAL ROUTE." This is the pioneer line between Chicago and the Pacific Coast, and was the first to connect with the great Pacific roads, and form the OVERLAND ROUTE. This line is the shortest rail line between Chicago and Omaha; the track is of the best steel rails, and is well ballasted, and as free from dust as a road can be made; the bridges are strong and durable; and all the appointments are first-class in every respect. The trains that run over this line are made up of elegant new Pullman Palace Drawing Room and Sleeping Coaches, built expressly for this line, luxurious, well lighted and well ventilated Day Coaches, and pleasant lounging and smoking cars—all built by this Company in their own shops. The cars are all equipped with the celebrated Miller Safety Platform, and Patent Buffers and Couplings, Westinghouse Safety Air Brakes, and every other appliance that has been devised for the safety of passenger trains. All trains are run by telegraph. In a word, this GREAT CALIFORNIA LINE has the best and smoothest track, and the most elegant and comfortable equipment of any road in the West, and has no competitor in the country. It is eminently the favorite route with Chicagoans traveling west, and is acknowledged by the traveling public to be the popular line for all points in Western Iowa, Nebraska, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Montana, Idaho, Nevada, California and the Pacific Slope.

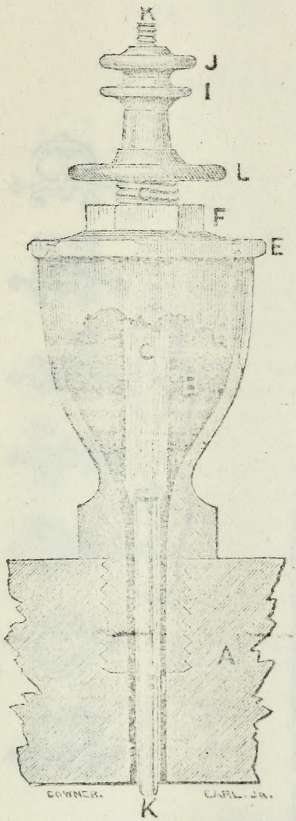
Betts' Fibrene Lubricating Compound

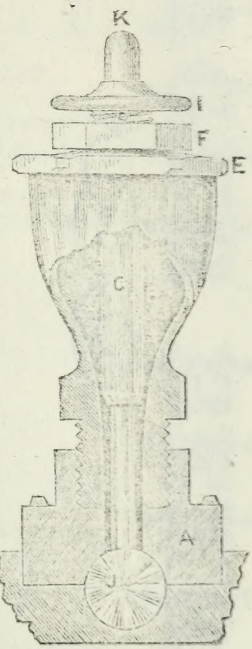
PATENT APPLIED FOR.



This Engraving Illustrates the Method of applying the

Lubricating Compound

To a Journal. L represents the substance in situ; W a wire running vertically through the Cup, and resting on the Journal J, for the purpose of conducting and regulating the flow of the Lubricant, thereby obtaining a steady and uniform feed. A Smooth Straight Wire will feed faster than a Double Twisted Wire, as shown in Cup, Soft Iron wire being best adapted for the purpose.



Recommended by the Highest Authorities as being the most Perfect, Reliable and Economical Lubricator in Use.

In its application to Steam Engines, Heavy or light Machinery, line shafting, etc., one pound of the Lubricator is equal to three gallons of the best Lard Oil. It saves 40 per cent in brasses, economizes time, and in cases of hot journals, (of rare occurrence with this Lubricator) no stoppage being necessary. It can be applied to any engine, and can be used in any common brass oil cup, by simply removing the inside tube and inserting therein a twisted wire, which should run through the cup and rest on the journal, as shown in the engraving. It does not become gummy or viscid, as do most of the Lubricators now in use, but works clean, smooth and satisfactory, and possesses the excellent property of adhering to heated parts, a property lamentably deficient in all of the oil lubricators.

If in cold weather the Fibrene Lubricator should become a little stiff, the addition of a little lard oil, or even water, will produce the proper consistency.

Warren's Automatic Safety Stop Governor,

WITH AUTOMATIC COUNTER SHAFT IF A COUNTER IS USED.

PATENTED JUNE 9th, 1874.

K represents a frame pendent from the engine-room ceiling. In this frame is a sliding tightner frame L, which may be raised and lowered by a screw M, passing through a girt. In the frame K a shaft is journaled across the frame. To each end of this shaft is secured arms O, and through the ends of these arms the counter shaft P is journaled with a pully on each end, one is driven from the main or engine shaft, the other drives the Governor. The counter shaft can be used above or below the shaft to which the arms are fastened, as may be most convenient. Endless belts can be used, thus avoiding lacing, which is more destructive to the belt than the work it does. The screw M tightens both belts causing the tension to be the same on both.

ADRIAN.

The county seat of Lenawee County, the largest and most thriving city in the southern tier of counties, and the most important place on the main line of the Michigan Southern R. R. It is located on the south branch of the river Raisin, nearly in the centre of the county, and 33 miles west of Toledo, 74 southwest of Detroit and 210 east of Chicago. It is 83 miles from Lansing. It is surrounded by a splendid farming country, which contributes largely to its trade. By population, according to the census of 1874, was 8,800, a falling off of 1,200 from the returns of 1870, a phenomenon occasioned for, in part, by the Superfect system in use for taking the State census, and, in part, by the recent removal of a large portion of the railroad shops to Elkhart.

The assessed valuation of the real and personal property of the city is $1,640,104, its real value being over $5,000,000. The corporation limits have not been extended within the past two years, or since the last issue of this work, nor have any new churches or other public buildings been erected in that time.

There are 12 churches, with property valued at $300,000.

The public schools consist of a central building and four large ward schools. Aggregate value of school property, $140,000. Number of children of school ages, 3,000 Number of teachers employed, 30. Aggregate amount of teachers' salaries, $14,500. Number of volumes in school library, 1,400.

The college under the auspices of the Methodist denomination is in a flourishing condition. Rev. Geo. B. McElroy, D. D., is now president.

Among the principal manufacturing enterprises, are the Adrian Car Manufacturing Co. and the Illinois Car Manufacturing Co., each employing a large number of hands; two large planing mills, two machine shops, two furniture factories, two carriage and wagon factories, and a number of smaller concerns in various branches. The railroad shops still remaining employ, constantly, about 200 men.

The moneyed institutions of Adrian comprise one national bank, one private bank, two savings banks and the Michigan State Insurance Company. The latter has a capital of $150,000, and a surplus of $187,990.

The newspaper press is represented by the Times and Expositor, an afternoon daily and weekly Republican paper; the Press, established in 1873, by Wm. A. Whitney, daily and weekly, independent in politics; the Journal, a weekly Democratic paper, and the Anzeiger, a German publication.

Adrian has the best steam fire department in the State, outside of Detroit. A sufficient supply of water is procured from wells and cisterns. The city is lighted with gas.

The lack of railroad competition has, no doubt, been prejudicial to the growth and prosperity of Adrian, and a direct and independent connection with Detroit is a great desideratum. As it is, the city is wholly dependent upon the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Road for an outlet, though it enjoys the advantage of being at the junction of two important branches, with the main line, viz: the Detroit branch and the Jackson branch. But for the depression of railroad interests for a year or two past, the Detroit and Adrian road might have been completed. It is, however, only a question of time when it will be built.

The site of the City of Adrian was purchased of the government by Addison J. Comstock, in September, 1825, and in the following year he moved on to the property. The village was platted in March, 1828. The first hotel was built on the site of the present Lawrence House in the same year. In 1829 the first store was established, and in 1832 the first church (Presbyterian). The first newspaper, the prototype of the present daily Times, was established in 1834, and in the following year the county seat was removed from Tecumseh to Adrian. In 1836 the Erie and Kalamazoo Railroad was completed between Toledo and Adrian—the earliest railroad in the State. The Michigan Southern was finished between Monroe and Adrian in 1840. In 1843 it was opened to Hillsdale. Adrian became a city in 1853.

ALBION.

A flourishing village on the Michigan Central railroad twenty miles west of Jackson and twelve east of Marshall. The Lansing branch of the L. S. & M. S. R. R. also passes through the place, by which route it is 22 miles north of Jonesville and 37 south of Lansing. Albion is in the eastern part of Calhoun county, in a fine agricultural region. Fruit and grain are the leading products marketed. The Kalamazoo river affords a good water power. The manufacturing interests of Albion embrace one extensive agricultural implement factory, which turns out 2,500 plows, 1,000 sulky horse rakes and 600 cultivators per annum; an extensive tannery, and several flouring mills.

The college, under the control of the Methodist Episcopal denomination, is the predominating feature of the village. This institution is now on a much stronger footing than formerly, having secured an endowment of $200,000. The college numbers about 200 students. Rev. Geo. B. Jocelyn, D. D., is president.

There are five union school buildings and six churches in Albion, and it supports two weekly newspapers, the Recorder (Republican), published by Hall, Thompson, & Co., who also publish the College Annalist; and the Mirror (Democratic), published by L. W. Cole. There are two hotels, the Albion house and the Exchange hotel, and one bank, the National Exchange, capital $100,000; surplus, $12,000; S. V. Irwin, president; G. W. Davis, cashier. The village officers are: President, W. H. Brockway; Treasurer, Frederick Hoaglin; Recorder, Seward Mahen. Population, 2,700.

ALGODON.

A postoffice in Knox county, 7½ miles south of Saranac. There is no village.

completion from Mansfield, O., to Allegan, via Coldwater and Battle Creek. A steamboat plies on the Kalamazoo river between Allegan and the lake.

The village is situated mainly upon a peninsula formed by a horse shoe bend of the Kalamazoo river. It is surrounded by high table lands extending back into the country and having a productive soil. There are several spacious business blocks, built of stone and brick and having fronts of good style and finish. Ample accomodations are thus furnished not only for merchandising and other industrial pursuits, but for professional offices.

Allegan has eight churches, a library association, a flourishing union school, two newspapers, the Journal (Republican), and the Democrat, and two first-rate hotels. The manufacturing interests embrace two or more each of saw mills, flouring mills, sash and door factories, foundries and machine shops, pump factories, carriage factories, cooper shops, breweries, etc. A fall of eight feet in the river furnishes a splendid water power.

The incorporated companies include the Allegan Manufacturing company, capital $25,000, James T. Ganson president, Wm. S. Crosby secretary, and H. B. Peck treasurer; the Allegan Car Company, capital $100,000, J. Fisk president, B. D. Prichard secretary and treasurer; and the First National Bank, capital $50,000, Benj. D. Prichard president, George B. Robinson cashier.

Holly water works, double machinery driven by water power, supply the village with water.

Allegan was laid out in 1835 by the Boston company, an eastern land company, who improved the water power, built a saw mill and procured the settlement here of a number of families. School houses, churches, hotels and manufactories sprang up, a bank was established and everything was going on swimmingly when the panic of 1838 swept the foundations from the speculative structure, and for years after it suffered from the back-set. Prosperity was again assured by the opening of the Kalamazoo and Grand Rapids railroad in 1868, since which the place has enjoyed a healthy growth in population and business.

ANN ARBOR.

The county seat of Washtenaw county and the seat of the University of Michigan, a city of 6,692 inhabitants, located on the banks of the Huron river, 38 miles west of Detroit. It is situated a little east of the geographical centre of the county and is an important station on the Michigan Central railroad, at present its only railroad outlet. The population of Ann Arbor, according to the census of 1874, shows an apparent decline of 671 souls, but this is believed to indicate merely the inefficient and much less thorough manner in which the State census is taken than the United States. The census of 1870 gave the city 7,363 inhabitants, and it claims a population now of about 8,000, though the census of 1874 gave it but 6,692 as stated above.

With its oak openings, rich gravelly soil, the beautiful undulating character of the surrounding country, and with the Huron river gently flowing along its border, no finer location could have been selected in the State for its great university. Established here in an early day, it has, by a careful management of its resources, grown to magnificent proportions, acknowledging no superior and few rivals on the American continent.

While speaking of the educational interests of Ann Arbor, the uppermost thought of its citizens, it may not be out of place to say that its union school acknowledges no rival in the State. It has a beautiful location on State street, only one block north of the university grounds. No other school in the country sends so many of its students into the various departments of the university. With five excellent ward schools as stepping stones, culminating finally in the classical, scientific and professional departments of the university, Ann Arbor could ask no more in the way of educational advantages.

Notwithstanding that the uppermost thought in the minds of the people of Ann Arbor is education, manufacturing interests are very far from having been neglected. An examination of its business interests reveals the fact that it is also a first-class manufacturing town. Among its principal enterprises we find the large agricultural implement works and foundry of Finnegan, Howard & Moore, and a similar institution, though on a smaller scale, of Moses Rogers, the foundry and machine shops of Tripp, Ails & Price, and of Sanford & Carpenter, the planing mills and sash works of the Luick Bros., of John G. Miller, of J Keck & Co, (who also manufacture furniture), and that of W. L. Noble, the large flouring mill of J. M. Swift & Co, and Swathel, Ails & Co., of J. T. Hallock, and of John Stratford; and in fact every branch of manufacturing usually found in cities of this size is represented here.

Aside from the manufacturing interests an eye to the production of the beautiful has been given in the establishment of the largest flower garden outside of Detroit, by James Toms. It is located on Miller avenue, and is a great ornament to the city.

Ann Arbor has shown enterprise also in the establishment of gas works, but a lamentable want of enterprise in not making better provision for the protection of the city from the ravages of fire. Two or three ordinary hand engines, with reservoirs that in a dry time are easily exhausted, constitute the entire protection the people have. The Holly water works or artesian wells and steam fire engines are sadly needed.

Like many other towns in Michigan, Ann Arbor is not without its fountain of health in the shape of mineral springs, whose waters

ANN ARBOR.

The county seat of Washtenaw county and the seat of the University of Michigan, a city of 6,607 inhabitants, located on the banks of the Huron river, 38 miles west of Detroit. It is situated a little east of the geographical centre of the county and is an important station on the Michigan Central railroad, at present its only railroad outlet. The population of Ann Arbor, according to the census of 1874, shows an apparent decline of 671 souls, but this is believed to indicate merely the inefficient and much less thorough manner in which the State census is taken than the United States. With its oak openings, rich gravelly soil, the beautiful undulating character of the surrounding country, and with the Huron are said to be highly impregnated with iron, sulphur, magnesia and other minerals. The proprietors, Messrs. Sutherland, Whedon & Co., have erected first class accomodations for those seeking relief from the ills of life.

The grounds of the Washtenaw county agricultural society, with fine buildings erected thereon, are within the city limits.

Not only can Ann Arbor justly boast of its schools, but it can also boast of its churches. The entire church property of the city is estimated at, at least, a quarter of a million dollars. The finest of these are the methodist, episcopal and presbyterian. The congregationalists are building a very fine house immediately in front of the university. The baptists, catholics, unitarians, lutherans, German methodists, colored methodists, each have good edifices, but of somewhat more modest proportions.

Of secret and other societies there is certainly a goodly number. Of the masons we count four, two subordinate, one chapter and one commandery; three odd fellows, two subordinate and one encampment; a good templar's lodge, a German laboring man's association, and a turn-verein; also a young men's christian association and a ladies' library association, with 2,000 volumes in their library.

The press of the city consists of the Peninsular Courier, published and edited by R. A. Beals, and the Ann Arbor Argus, published and edited by Carr & Goulet.

Ann Arbor has two chartered banks, the First National, capital $150,000, and the Ann Arbor Savings Bank, capital $50,000. Telegraphic facilities are afforded by the Western Union, the Atlantic & Pacific and the American lines. The American express company transact the express business. Postmaster, Charles G. Clark.

The Huron river furnishes a fine water power utilized in the driving of three of the first mills mentioned above and other manufactories.

BATTLE CREEK.

The largest and most prosperous city of Calhoun county. It is located in the northwestern part of the county, at the junction of Battle creek with the Kalamazoo river. It is the point of intersection of the Michigan Central and the Chicago and Lake Huron railways, being 121 miles west of Detroit, 163 from Chicago and 45 southwest from Lansing. The place was first settled about 40 years ago, was incorporated as a village in 1850 and as a city in 1859. The corporation is two miles square and is divided into four wards. The population has not increased during the past two years, being now reckoned at 6,000.

Battle Creek is essentially a manufacturing point. Besides six flouring mills, a woolen factory and two furniture factories, there are the Nichols & Shepherd Manufacturing Co., builders of threshing machines, capital $500,000; the Battle Creek knitting mills, capital $75,000, the Battle Creek Machinery Co., capital $30,000; the American Edge Tool Co., capital $30,000; the Upton Manufacturing Co., agricultural implements, capital $100,000, besides other manufacturing concerns in various branches.

Battle Creek is the headquarters of the Seventh-Day Adventist denomination, and here they have a college building costing $35,000 and a publishing house with a capital of $100,000, from which emanate several periodicals, besides tracts, books and pamphlets, printed in five different languages and circulating in all parts of the world. The Adventists are an exceedingly prosperous and happy people.

There are two banks, the First National, capital $100,000, and the City Bank, capital $50,000. The leading hotel is the Potter House, kept by Henry Potter. The Briley hotel, formerly the Morse House, is a well kept hotel. The public halls are the Opera House and the City Hall. Battle Creek boasts one of the finest school buildings in the State, its cost being about $80,000. There are some nine churches, the leading ones being the Congregational and Presbyterian, the Methodist, the Baptist, the Episcopal (St. Thomas), and the Dutch Reformed. There is also one daily newspaper, the Journal, and three weeklies. The American Express and the Western Union, Atlantic & Pacific and American telegraph lines have offices here. Postmaster, Wm. Wallace.

The country around Battle Creek is moderately undulating with a good soil, producing wheat, corn and all kinds of fruit. Wool also is a staple product. These, with flour and live stock, are largely shipped hence. The river and creek furnishes a valuable water power.

BAY CITY.

Bay City, the county seat of Bay county, is situated on the east bank of the Saginaw river, four miles from its mouth. The river is navigable to this point for the largest sized vessels. Bay City is the northern terminus of the Detroit and Bay City railroad, also of the main line of the Flint and Pere Marquette. The Jackson, Lansing and Saginaw railroad passes through it and it will be the eastern terminus of the Grand Rapids and Bay City railroad, not yet completed. Its commercial advantages are thus very great.

The population is now claimed to be upwards of 14,000 and rapidly increasing. During the first six months of 1873, $1,000,000 were expended in building improvements within the corporate limits of the city. These limits comprise an area four miles in length by two in breadth. The city contains 12 churches, a high school and five ward schools, 4 banks with a united capital of $760,000, about 25 hotels of all grades, 2 daily and 3 weekly newspapers, and one of the finest opera houses in the State.

Bay City is essentially a manufacturing city, though as yet these interests are confined chiefly to lumber and salt. There are however several foundries and machine shops and a very extensive wooden gas and water pipe factory. The city is lighted with gas and supplied with water by the Holly system. The pumps are supplied with pure water from Saginaw Bay through a conduit pipe of 30 inches diameter, 4½ miles in lenth, and is distributed in the city through over 20 miles of the wooden pipe manufactured in the city and which gives excellent satisfaction.

In public buildings Bay City can point with pride to architectural beauty and adornment combined with solidity, surpassed by no city in the State.

The city contains 77 manufacturing establishments with an aggregate capital of $4,086,789. Of these 28 are saw mills in which are 34 circular saws and 21 gangs. The lumber shipments of the city during the season of 1874 aggregate 350,000,000 feet, of a value of four and a half million of dollars.

Bay City is situated upon the great salt basin of the Saginaw Valley, the development of which commencing in 1860, with the shipment from the city of 2,000 barrels, has reached the enormous amount of 486,343 barrels shipped in 1874, value $700,000.

In population Bay City has increased from 800 in 1860 to 7,064 in 1870, and 13,676 in 1874, a rate of increase which enables her to rank fourth in point of numbers as compared with other cities in the State. The population is largely made up from the Eastern States, while the thrifty Germans, industrious Canadian French, Irish and Poles form a heterogenious population, the combination of which proves eminently satisfactory in the growth and progress of the city.

The aggregate value of property within the corporate limits of the city increased from $5,000,000 in 1870 to $9,000,000 in 1874. The school property of the city is valued at $125,000 including the handsome high school building, costing $40,000, and five ward buildings one of which is of brick, recently completed, and cost $12,000.

The water works have cost the city thus far $227,000, which will be increased to $300,000 by the full completion of the system, including the inlet pipe, costing $100,000. The completion of this system will leave Bay City second in the State in point of water supply, in its purity and abundance.

Its paid fire department consists of four hose companies of seven men each, taking their water supply from the hydrants, which are found at every street intersection.

The regular police force of the city consists of nine men, including the marshal and assistant marshal. When it is remembered that this force is efficient to preserve order in a city spreading over a distance of four miles in length by two in breadth, whose population is augmented in the spring of the year by thousands of transient men from the lumber camps in the adjoining counties, it may well be said to speak volumes for the good character of the population.

In street improvements Bay City ranks second only to Detroit among the cities of the State, Five of its principal streets are paved with the Nicolson and Wycoff patent wood pavements, of which about three miles in length has been laid. Over one mile of this is of white cedar blocks. The city has purchased the Wycoff patent, and the laying of two miles of paving is contemplated for the season of 1875. About four miles of the streets are planked.

The city enjoys the advantages of a public library, comprising about 5,000 volumes, from which by the report of the librarian there was given out between April 1st and December 15th, 1874, 14,500 volumes, with a loss of but three volumes.

The churches of the city will compare favorably with those of other cities of the State in number, value, and membership. That of the First Baptist Society, costing $80,000, can boast according to experts, "the most beautiful, symmetrical and perfectly proportioned spire on the continent." In membership the different societies are eminently prosperous.

The growth of Bay City is undoubtedly due to a great extent to the railroad facilities presented by the Flint and Pere Marquette, which here makes its northern terminus. The Detroit and Bay City Railroad connecting at Lapeer with the Port Huron and Lake Michigan, and the Jackson, Lansing and Saginaw Railroad, which on its line from Jackson and the south to its ultimate terminus at Mackinac, crosses the Saginaw river to Bay City, making junction with the Detroit and Bay City Railroad. These several lines of road are connected at the southern limits of the city and again near the business center, by the Bay City Street and Transit Railroad, which, with its track of six miles, extending from Essexville at the mouth of the river to the south limits of the city, is calculated to enable the transfer of rail cars from the mills and manufactories on its line to the different roads; thus bringing the entire body of manufacturing establishments in the city into the enjoyment of all the privileges to be obtained from these lines of road connecting with all portions of the land, facilities enjoyed by the inhabitants of but few cities in the nation.

A recently published history of the city, by H. S. Dow of the Lumberman's Gazette, is a readable work of 100 pages, replete with valuable information of a historic and statistical nature.

BENTON HARBOR.

This thriving town is the center of the great fruit growing district, and the most important fruit shipping point on Lake Michigan. It is situated in Berrien county, Benton township, at the mouth of the Paw Paw river and on the C. & M. L. S. R. R., and is the lake terminus of the proposed Elkhart & Lake Michigan railroad, which will pass through the center of Berrien county, the most productive and densely populated section of the State, abounding in excellent timber for manufacturing and building purposes. Paw Paw river affords superior water power. The elegant churches, school buildings and private residences, attest the culture, and the ship canal (costing over $50,000), and other public works are evidences of the wealth and enterprise of the population which numbers some 1,500. According to statements given at the Custom House, the following shipments of fruit were made in 1874: 8,300 barrels of apples, 500,000 baskets of peaches, and 100,000 crates of berries.

The extensive zinc wash board and brewers bung works of Geo. R. Wright & Bro. are located here. J. P. Thresher, postmaster.

BIG RAPIDS.

The City of Big Rapids, the county seat of Mecosta county, is located on the Muskegon river, 56 miles north of Grand Rapids. The corporation extends over an area of six square miles, and contains excellent farming land, lying high and dry on both sides of the river, which runs diagonally through the city in a southeasterly course, and furnishes a water-power second to none in the State. Mitchell creek enters the corporation on the west, and empties into the river a little above the center of the city. The site on which the city stands, with a large tract of land adjoining it, was purchased from the government in 1854, by Frederick Hall, of Ionia, and in 1855, George B. Warren and Chauncy P. Ives, of Troy, N. Y., bought the site, and platted it in 1859 as the village of Big Rapids. They built a saw mill on Mitchell creek, near the river, and a few shanties Up to 1863, mails were brought in on horseback from Greenville, when a weekly stage commenced running from Grand Rapids, via Newaygo. The village grew rapidly until, in 1869, it was incorporated a city by the Legislature, and in 1870 contained a population of 1,300, the present population of the city is about 3,500. In July, 1870, the Grand Rapids and Indiana railroad reached the city, and now runs through it to Petoskey on Little Traverse bay. In September, 1872, the railroad from Muskegon to Big Rapids, under control of the Michigan Central Co. was commenced and trains began running in July, 1873.

The city is supplied with water for fire protection and private use by means of the Holly water works, put in by the city in 1871, at a cost of $65,000.

The Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian and Episcopalian denominations have large and thriving societies, each with a neat and elegant house of worship. The Methodist church was organized in 1865, and built their house in 1867. The Presbyterian church was organized in 1867, and have built a beautiful brick church at a cost of $12,000. The Episcopal church was organized in 1870, and the place of worship erected in 1871. The Baptist church was organized in 1871, and the church built the same year. The Catholics have lately also built a church.

The county owns a block containing about three acres near the center of the city, in the center of which will be erected the court house. The corners of the block have been set apart for churches of any denominations which will erect church edifices thereon. One corner is now occupied by the Methodist church, another by the Presbyterian, and the other two are ready for claimants. The city park fronts this square on the east.

A literary association with 100 members was organized in 1871, and regular lecture courses maintained.

The manufactories of Big Rapids have assumed large proportions. The Tioga Manufacturing Company was organized in 1871, with a capital stock of $500,000. The company owns large tracts of pine land on the Upper Muskegon, a farm of 200 acres, the water power and a large number of city lots in the northern part of the city. A dam has been constructed across the river, with a long race on each side, and two saw mills with a capacity of 12,000,000 feet per annum, 1 shingle mill with a capacity of 4,000,000 per annum, two lath mills with a capacity of 8,000,000 per annum, and a large grist mill have been erected thereon. Private individuals have erected other manufactories on this water power, having purchased the right to do so from the Tioga company.

The Big Rapids Improvement Company was organized in 1871, with a capital stock of $200,000. The company owns the water power in the southeast part of the city, together with a large number of lots and business blocks in all parts of the city. It also owns large tracts of pine land in Mecosta and adjoining counties. The water power has been improved by the construction of a dam across the river and a long race on each side The company in 1872 erected a large saw mill and shingle mill, which will soon be followed by more extensive manufactories.

T. D. Stimson, Esq., who owns very large tracts of pine land on the Upper Muskegon river, erected a large saw mill on the east side of the river near the dam of the Big Rapids Improvement Company, in 1871, at a cost of $50,000, and with a capacity of 10,000,000 per annum. The mill property and stock in the yard are worth about $150,000.

The Big Rapids Boom Company was organized in 1872 with a capital stock of $30,000. The present capacity of boomage is 50,000,000, with facilities for 100,000,000 when needed.

The Big Rapids Iron Co. Is a new enterprise, having been started this year by Messrs Hill & Crawford, both of whom came here lately from Pennsylvania. Mr. Hill, of this firm, is one of the veterans in the business, having learned the trade and spent many years with the Presque Isle Iron Co., Stearns, Clark & Co., and Stearns, Hill & Co., all of which are now merged into the Stearns Manufacturing Co., with which he is still connected. He has traveled extensively through the country, amongst mill men, and thoroughly understands their wants. The building occupied by the company is 165 by 120 feet, two stories high, and built of brick. On the ground floor is a machine shop 50 by 60, a foundry 50 by 60, a storeroom and office 45 by 95; there is also a blacksmith shop, engine room, core room and cupola room. Up stairs is a pattern and wood working shop, another wareroom for light machinery 45 by 110, and a tin shop about 60 feet square.

The Big Rapids Furniture Manufacturing Company was organized in July, 1872, with a capital stock of $50,000. The company has a large factory on the west side of the river, near the dam of the Tioga Co., with a capacity for turning out $800,000 worth of work per annum. All kinds of furniture are manufactured for shipment and for home market.

The Exchange Bank was organized in 1867, and incorporated in April, 1871, with an authorized capital stock of $150,000.

The Northern National Bank was organized in June, 1871, with a capital stock of $75,000.

The Pacific Hotel was built in 1858, and hence is the oldest hotel in the city. It has always enjoyed a prosperous business. It furnishes accommodation for about 75 guests.

The present Mason House is a new hotel, having been completed about January 1st, 1875. It is three stories high and fronts on Michigan avenue 100 feet, and on Maple street 125 feet. It is fitted up with all the modern improvements, and has a capacity for accommodating about 100 guests. The other hotels are the Montreal House, the Rose Hotel and the National Hotel.

There are two weekly newspapers published here—the "Magnet" and "Pioneer."

Nearly all branches of trade and industry are represented, and the city is surrounded by a rich country, with many old and well improved farms.

Both the American and United States Express Companies have offices here.

The Western Union Telegraph Company and the G. R. & I. R. R. Co.'s line furnish telegraphic facilities. Thomas Lazell, postmaster.

BIRMINGHAM.

In 1819 the first settlers cut their way through from Detroit to Birmingham, although it was many years later when the first ideas of a village at this point were entertained. Birmingham has now a population of 700 or 800, and is situated 18 miles from Detroit on the D. & M. R. R. The patriotic spirit of it and the surrounding country is attested by the erection of a $1,800 monument in the center of the village, bearing the names of the fallen soldiers of the four townships, of Troy (in which Birmingham is located), Bloomfield, Royal Oak and Southfield. They have a fine union school house, three churches—Methodist, Presbyterian and Baptist—the former of which is said to be one of the very finest in the State outside of Detroit, and a lodge of Grangers. It has also a foundry, a grist mill and a saw mill. J. Allen Bigelow, postmaster.

A postoffice in Ottawa county, 23 miles southeast of Grand Haven on the mail route between that place and Grandville.

BLISSFIELD.

The village of Blissfield is situated on the river Raisin, which divides it in nearly equal parts, in the county of Lenawee, 10 miles from Adrian, and 22 miles from Toledo. It lies on the main line of the L. S. & M. S. R. R., about 2 miles east of the junction with the Canada Southern.

The population of the town is estimated at 1,500, and with fair prospects of continued growth.

The farming country about is of excellent quality.

The river Raisin affords water power for a grist and saw mill, the balance of the manufacturing establishments being run by steam. They consist of a flouring mill owned by Love & Dunn, a saw mill by Henry Jipson, the tobacco manufacturing company, a large stave factory and cooper shop, giving employment to some 70 men, the foundry and machine shop of John Watson, 2 large furniture manufactories, one owned by Bliss & Son, and the other by M. Small, 3 large carriage shops, owned respectively by E. T. Rogers, Ford & Gilman, and Fred. Cannon, and the handle factory of Brown & Ellis.

Sportsmen here claim to have the finest half-mile training race course in the State.

The public buildings of the town consist of two good halls and two churches, Methodist and Presbyterian. A first class union school is in prospect. The Blissfield Advance is the newspaper representative of the place. Telegraph, Western Union. Express, American and United States. J. R. Stearns, postmaster.

BUCHANAN.

Next to Niles and St. Joseph the largest village in Berrien county. It is pleasantly located on the M. C. R. R. about six miles west of Niles and about 87 east of Chicago. It has a population of between 2,500 and 3,000. The quality of the surrounding country is seldom surpassed, being well adapted to the growth of every class of farm products, including fruit.

The McCoy creek and the St. Joseph river, forming a junction here, afford the town a good water power.

The manufacturing interests of Buchanan include the Buchanan Wagon Manufacturing Company, the Excelsior Manufacturing Company, mnfrs of a patent carpet stretcher; Richards & Bates, mnfrs of a reversible clothes bar; the Buchanan bedstead and furniture factory, the bedstead factory of S. Black, the handle factory of A Richards, the flouring and custom mills of Pear & Rough, and the custom mill of Kingery & Co., the Zinc Collar Pad Company, and the sash, blind and door factory of Rose & Rough. Buchanan boasts of one of the finest school houses in the State, it having cost $35 000. There are also six churches: Methodist, Presbyterian, two Advent (old and new sects), United Brethren, and Disciple or Christian. The First National Bank of Buchanan was organized in 1872, with a cash capital of $50,000 and a liberal surplus. In private residences the town presents many evidences of excellent taste.

The Buchanan Record, published by Mr. Kingery, is the only local paper here. N. H. Merrill, postmaster.

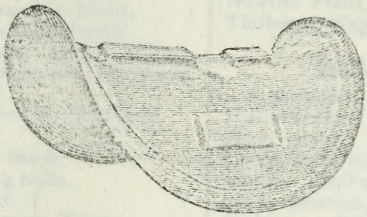
ZINC COLLAR PAD COMPANY,

Sole Proprietors and Manufacturers of

Curtis' Patent Zinc Collar Pad



Warranted to prevent Chafing, and to cure the worst cases of Sore Neck, the Medicinal and Cooling Properties of the Zinc Metal being a sure Guarantee against Chafing.

MANUFACTORY,

BUCHANAN, - - MICHIGAN.

Communications will receive prompt attention.

THE ZINC COLLAR PAD is fully warranted to cure any chafed or galled neck, if directions for use in the hands of dealers are followed.

They must be kept clean by scouring the part that wears on the animals neck whenever they become coated over with matter from the sore, or with sweat and dirt. Ashes, fine sand or anything that will clean them without scratching will answer. They must also be "covered" over the "top" with "cloth" or "leather" sufficient to fully shade them. These directions are indispensable in the use of the pad,

The medicinal virtue of the Zinc is lost if coated over with other matter, and they become heated when exposed to the rays of the sun.

BURR OAK.

Burr Oak is a village of 900 inhabitants on the L. S. & M. S. R. R., 18 miles west of Coldwater and 6 miles east of Sturgis. It is in Burr Oak township, St. Joseph county.

It is surrounded by an excellent farming country, and was said at one time to have been the second best grain market on the Southern road between Laporte and Toledo. In consequence of the modern growth, however, of other towns along the line, and the large number of crossroads, its former glory has much departed, though it is still a pleasant little town. It has an unusually fine block of seven brick buildings for a place of its size.

A very good water power is furnished by Prairie river, a branch of the St. Joseph.

An $18,000 school house was erected a few years ago, and the district on its completion found themselves out of debt and with $800 in treasury. Few districts in the state can say as much.

There are four churches, the Presbyterian, Baptist, Methodist and Lutheran, Telegraph —Western Union. Express—United States. D. F. Parsons, postmaster.

CALUMET,

A large mining village, located at the site of the famous Calumet & Hecla mine, in Calumet township, Houghton county. It is reached from Hancock by the Mineral Range railroad, being 13 miles distant. Another railroad, 5½ miles long, belonging to the mining company, connects it with Torch Lake. The village has a population of about 4,000, nearly the whole of whom are directly or indirectly connected with the mine. The streets are straight and wide, and the buildings, mostly of wood, are neat and attractive. For so large a place there are but few stores, shops or factories. The place is well supplied with churches, and a large and handsome union school of brick and stone, capable of accommodating some 800 children, has just been erected by the munificence of the mining company.

The mine, the richest in the world, is worked in a vein of conglomerate, dipping to the west at an angle of perhaps 45°. The vein is eight or ten feet in thickness, and is uniformly productive. Eight shafts penetrate the vein to a depth of some 1,200 feet, the different shafts being connected by galleries or levels. Work is prosecuted night and day, and about 1,000 hands are employed. The machinery used for elevating the ore to the surface and crushing it, and for pumping and condensing air for the drills, is all on an immense scale and of the most perfect description. The ore is carried by rail to Torch Lake, where are located the extensive stamps of the company. The product of the mine is such as to enable the company to divide $1,600,000 a year, and there is no falling off in the product possible for years to come. The capital of the company is nominally $2,000,000, but the $25 shares sell readily in the market at from $120 to $160 each. The general superintendent of the mine is Mr. J. N. Wright, a gentleman of great executive ability.

The Mineral Range Telegraph Company afford telegraphic facilities. A. T. Streeter postmaster.

CASSOPOLIS.

The village of Cassopolis, the county seat of Cass county, is located nearly in the center of the county, and at the junction of the Chicago and Lake Huron (formerly called the Peninsular) railroad, with the Air line division of the M. C. R. R., 14 miles east of Niles, and 52 southwest of Battle Creek. Its population is about 1,000.

It has no water power, though there is an abundance of water near by, the village being located just on the bank of Stone lake, and only one mile west of a beautiful sheet of water known as Diamond lake. In the center of this lake is a cosy little island, a favorite locality for picnics etc. This lake and islands are also rapidly becoming a popular summer resort.

The fact of Cassopolis having been an inland town until recently, and without water power, together with its close proximity to Niles and Three Rivers, both railroad towns, and with first class water powers, is probably the reason for the almost entire absence of manufacturing interests.

The public buildings consist of a fair old wooden court house, in one room of which is found the postoffice; a brick jail, fire proof brick offices, a good wooden central union school building and one ward building, and three churches—Presbyterian, Baptist and Methodist. The latter, a very nice wooden structure, was dedicated Nov. 22, 1874, and the society placed beyond any pecuniary embarrassment created by its building by the generous contributions of the people. There are no saloons in the village.

There are two newspapers here: The National Democrat, owned by C. C. Allison, and the Vigilant, by W. H. Mansfield.

The first settlement was made here in 1829. In 1832 the place became the county seat, but its isolated position kept it in the back ground until the completion of its two railroads in 1870, since which it has enjoyed a healthy growth. Joseph Harper postmaster.

CENTRAL MILL.

A village at the location of the Central mine, in the town of Sherman, Keweenaw county. It lies 7 miles back from Eagle River, the county seat, and 5 miles from Eagle Harbor. The place was first settled in or about the year 1857, and now numbers a population of about 1,000. Copper mining is the leading industry of the place. The country around is slightly broken and heavily timbered. Hay and potatoes are the principal agricultural productions. Copper alone is shipped. The production of the Central mine for 1873 was 1,120 tons, and it was surpassed in product only by the Calumet and Hecla and the Quincy mines. It divided the same year $160,000. The total dividends paid by it have reached $840,000 on an original investment of $100,000. Ship by water to Eagle Harbor. Its nearest railroad point is Calumet. T. B. Dunstan, postmaster.

CENTREVILLE.

Centreville, the county seat of St. Joseph county, is situated on the M. C. R. R. Air line, 6 miles east of Three Rivers, and 64 miles west of Jackson. The population of the town is somewhere from 1,000 to 1,200.

The soil of the county is a gravelly loam, and the timber mostly oak. But for its naturally good streets, the people would probably have had their town incorporated long before this. As it is, however, there is no power to compel the building of a sidewalk, nor even the purchase of a pail to aid in suppressing a conflagration. With a little more enterprise in this direction, Centreville would be an exceedingly pleasant town.

Hog creek, or Prairie river, as it is interchangeably called, affords a passable water power, susceptible of greater improvement.

The manufacturing enterprises consist of the Centreville Knit-Goods Manufacturing company, with a capital stock of $65,000. It has a large three-story brick building, erected last year. Some 65 hands are employed in the manufacture of knit-goods. An Alden and Jones fruit-drying establishment has recently been established, with $10,000 capital stock. Also the flouring mill of Kline & Holt, large foundry and machine shop of William Allison, the wagon and carriage shop of Dexter & Thomas. A cotton-batting company has just been organized in connection with the fruit-drying establishment, with an increase of capital to $20,000.

The public buildings of Centreville consist of a fair wooden court house, brick fire proof offices and a good brick jail. A $22,000 school house will soon be ready for occupancy.

The spiritual interests of the town are, or ought to be, well attended to with four churches, the methodist, baptist, united presbyterian and reformed, each of which has good wooden buildings, save the baptist, which is a very good brick.

The only newspaper published here is the Centreville Republican, owned by H. Egabroad.

CHAMPION,

A village of 200 inhabitants on the Marquette, Houghton & Ontonagon R. R., in the town of Ely, Marquette county, 31 miles west of Marquette. It is within a mile of the beautiful lake Michigammie, and was the location of the Champion hot blast furnace, which, however, was burned down in April, 1874, and owing to the depressed condition of the iron market, was not rebuilt, though much of the property was saved, and $15,000 to $18,000 would suffice to put it in operation again. The stoppage of the furnace has caused the village to decline in population and business, though the proprietors (The Morgan Iron Company) still keep a number of hands to work their farm in the vicinity. The Champion iron mine, located about a mile south of the village, and owned by the Champion Iron Company, is doing well, and has all the accessories of a first-class mine. The Keystone mine is in the same vicinity. Hay, oats, potatoes and vegetables are cultivated, but only iron and iron ore are shipped away. Christopher A. McRae, postmaster.

CHARLEVOIX.

The county seat of Charlevoix county, a village about 500 inhabitants, on the shore of Lake Michigan, about midway between Traverse City and Mackinac. It is 14 miles west of Petoskey the terminus of the G. R. & I. R. R. It has one or more saw mills, and a newspaper, the Sentinel. Certain propellers of the Buffalo and Chicago lines touch here several times a week, affording during the season of navigation ready communication with the outside world. During the winter season it has a tri-weekly mail.

(See index to names too late for insertion.)

CHARLOTTE.

Charlotte is a city of 3,000 inhabitants, situated in the center of the county of Eaton, one of the most flourishing counties in the State, of which it is the seat of justice. It is built upon a beautiful prairie skirted with woods, a lovely spot, and the "Loveliest village of the plain."

The Grand River Valley Division of the Michigan Central R R. crosses the Chicago & Lake Huron R. R. at this point, affording competition in traffic both east and west. No finer stores are to be found in any city of its size in the west, and its business men are live, active and thriving.

Charlotte has 2 excellent hotels, 2 banks, 5 churches, excellent school buildings, and some fine residences. In the manufacturing line it has two flouring mills, a large handle factory, which has also recently commenced upon an extensive scale the manufacturing of Willard's patent double stave barrels. The Charlotte Manufacturing Company, with a capital of 25,000, do an immense business in manufacturing staves. The Gipson fanning mill is also made here. There are three foundries and machine shops. The city has also a public circulating library, founded by Joseph Saunders, Esq., who furnishes free of rent the room which it occupies, His munificence will not soon be forgotten by a greatful public. The Eaton County Agricultural Society grounds are within the city. They are being nicely arranged and one of their most marked features is a grove of about ten acres. The county jail, situated here, is the admiration of all who see it.

Charlotte became a city in 1871, and elected Hon. E. S. Lacey its first mayor, to whom it is much indebted for the excellence of its governmental regulations. During that year many public improvements were made, and the like have steadily increased to the present time. It has a steam fire department and one of Silsby's third size engines.

No healthier place can be found and its inhabitants are moral and cultivated.

The Western Union Telegraph and American Express furnish telegraph and express facilities. F. E. Leiter postmaster.

CHELSEA.

The village of Chelsea is situated on the Michigan Central railroad, 56 miles west of Detroit, and 21 east of Jackson. It is in the township of Sylvan, Washtenaw county, in the best wheat district of the State. Its population is not far from 1,000. It has no water power, but considering its size it has a fair show of manufacturing enterprises, numbering among them a cider and planing mill, large brick and tile factory, pump factory, marble factory, barrel and stave factory, foundry and machine shop, carriage and wagon shops and others.

A good union school under the management of Prof. G. A. Brown and five assistants is in successful operation.

There are five church edifices in town—Congregational, Methodist, Baptist, Lutheran and Catholic.

Chelsea is not without its local paper—the Herald, under the management of A. Allison, being published here. Geo J Crowell, postmaster.

CLARKSBURGH.

A place of about 500 inhabitants on the Marquette, Houghton and Ontonagon R. R., 26 miles west of Marquette. It is the location of the extensive furnace of the Michigan Iron Company, of which Dr. H. J. Colwell is superintendent.

(For business directory see index to names received too late for insertion in proper place.)

CLARKSTON.

Two miles north of Clarkston station on the D. & M. railroad, and some 35 miles from Detroit, lies the pleasant rural town of Clarkston, deriving its name from the celebrated fish breeder, N. W. Clark, one of the oldest residents of the place. Clinton river, which has its rise only five miles from here, furnishes a good power for the flouring and plaster mills of Erastus Stiff, which bear the venerable figures of 1839. A population of 500 or 600 is claimed. The country is gently rolling, and excellent for farming purposes. The Methodists and Baptists have each an organization and good church edifices here. A strong lodge of masons and grangers constitute the secret organizations. There is but one hotel. The manufacturing interests are limited, consisting mainly of the flouring and plaster mills already mentioned and a foundry. Clarkston is in the town of Independence, Oakland county, 10 miles west of Pontiac. Express, Amer-

COLDWATER.

Excepting the city of Adrian the city of Coldwater, the county seat of Branch county, is the largest town in Michigan on the line of the L. S. & M. S. R. R. It lies 132 miles west of Detroit and 155 east of Chicago, and claims a population of about 7,000.

The city is located on a rich level prairie, and with its fine public buildings and beautiful private residences, made more attractive still by nicely laid out and well-worked streets, will pass for one of the pleasantest towns in Michigan.

Its chief manufacturing interests are the stave and cooper works, giving employment to 60 or 70 men, the tobacco factory, running from 25 to 50 hands, wheelbarrow factory, saw mill and machine shop, a linseed oil and oatmeal factory, a handle factory, two large cabinet factories two foundries, a large brewery, besides several minor establishments.

The public buildings consist of the county buildings, hardly creditable to the county, a first-class union school and two ward school houses, two large public halls and seven churches—Methodist Episcopal, Presbyterian, Baptist, Episcopal, Catholic, Wesleyan Methodist, and Lutheran.

The city is lighted with gas, has good hotels and a spacious public hall. There are two weekly newspapers published here, the Republican and the Reporter, the latter independent in politics. There are also two national banks, and one private bank. Wheat, wool and live stock are extensively marketed at this point. As yet Coldwater has but one railroad outlet, but the Mansfield, Coldwater & Lake Michigan and the Coldwater, Marshall & Mackinac railroads, now in course of construction, will give it valuable connections north and south.

The greatest attraction of Coldwater is the art gallery of the Hon. Henry C. Lewis, on which he has expended in pictures and statuary alone some $75,000. With the buildings his outlay has not fallen much, if any, below $100,000. It is open only on Saturdays, when the public are invited, from far and near, to visit it without charge. More than one-half of the gallery is either the original work of the old masters, or faithful copies of the same. Lovers of art pronounce this collection one of the very finest to be found on this continent, and it is a source of great pride to the citizens of Coldwater.

No philanthropic citizen of Michigan, however, would think of visiting Coldwater without also paying a visit to the State public school recently established here. It stands on a slight eminence overlooking the city, about a mile and a half north of the business street. It consists of a central or principal building, in which are the offices, school-room, dining-hall, etc, and five cottages, standing some twenty feet apart, each one of these constituting the home of a family, consisting of a lady in charge and about thirty children under her special supervision. The institution is under the general charge of Mr. Z. Truesdel as superintendent, some ten years in charge of the public schools at Flint, and nearly all his life a teacher; and Miss Emma A. Hall, formerly in charge of the House of Shelter, in Detroit, as matron. Under their charge the school is in a flourishing condition, fully demonstrating the wisdom of their selection. The first pupils were received on the 22d of May, 1874, and the school was not long in filling up to its maximum capacity, about 150. The school was founded by the State for the care and education of the children who had previously been brought up in wretchedness in the various county poor houses. Proposals for the enlargement of its capacity are already under consideration. The institution cost $100,000. Julius S. Barber postmaster.

COLON.

Colon is a little village of some 400 to 500 souls, pleasantly situated on the air line division of the M. C. R. R., 16 miles east of Three Rivers. Unfortunately, most of the towns along this line of the road have as in this instance been left half a mile or more inland. It is in Colon township, St. Joseph county, and is on the St. Joseph river.

A good water power is furnished by Swan creek, the outlet of Palmer lake, which lies just to the southeast of the village. The soil of the surrounding country is a rich, sandy loam. The manufacturing enterprises consist of a large flouring mill, saw mill, two carriage factories, a cider mill, an Alden fruit drying establishment, which gives employment to some 25 hands in the season of operating; also, a barrel factory, a planing mill, a foundry, and a tannery.

The school facilities of Colon are good, they having appropriated a $12,000 seminary building, erected some years since, to the purposes of a union school, in which they employ three teachers.

There is only a single church in town, and that belongs to the Baptists. The Methodists, who have an organization, but no edifice, occupy the union school building.

The village was first settled in 1829.

CONSTANTINE.

The village of Constantine is one of the oldest towns in southern Michigan. Its first settlement began in 1828. It is located at the junction of the St. Joseph and Fawn rivers, and on the Kalamazoo division of the L. S. & M. S. R. R., just north of White Pigeon prairie and four miles north of White Pigeon station on the main line, and eight miles south of Three Rivers. The surrounding country is fine and the general lay of the town is good.

The water power is first class, though only partially developed, Fawn river alone having been utilized. St. Joseph river has been recently dammed, and will furnish one of the best water powers in the country.

The population of Constantine is variously estimated at from 1,500 to 2,000.

The present manufacturing interests consist of a foundry and machine shop, two large flouring mills, a cabinet manufactory, a chair factory, two carriage and wagon shops, and a saw mill.

One of the finest school houses of southwestern Michigan may be seen here. It cost some $32,000, and gives employment to Prof. S. B. Kingsbury and six assistant teachers. The other public buildings consist of four churches—the Methodist, Presbyterian, Reformed and Lutheran.

For 24 years the St. Joseph County Advertiser, published here, has been under the direction of L. T. Hull, its present editor and proprietor. T. H. Calam postmaster.

CORUNNA.

Corunna is an incorporated city, two miles square, and is situated on the D. & M. R. R., 75 miles northwest of Detroit, 22 miles west of Flint and 30 miles north of Lansing, which latter place is reached by the J. L. & S. R. R., an omnibus running to all passenger trains on that road, a distance of 3 miles. It is the county seat, and has a commodious and substantial brick court house, fire proof brick county offices detached from the main building, and a residence for the sheriff of the county—all enclosed within a beautiful court yard and park, occupying one entire quare of the city. The Shiawassee river, which at this point is a beautiful stream, runs through the heart of the city, and at that point affords the most valuable hydraulic power that can be found along its entire length. The surrounding country is one of the best agricultural sections in that part of the state, and it has in its immediate vicinity some of the best farms in the county. Among its palatial residences, some of which are the finest in the county, are those of Hon. H. McCardy, built of Milwaukee brick, Hon. John N. Ingersoll, A. T. Nichols, Esq., A. McArthur, Esq., Mrs. S. B. Reynaie, and others.

Besides some eighty mercantile establishments, some of them attractive features, that supply the trading wants of the entire northeast quarter of the county, Corunna has among its principal manufacturing establishments, a flouring mill of four run of stone, plaster mill, saw mill, stave mill, woolen factory, hub and spoke factory, fanning mill factory, carriage factory, three blacksmith shops, three wheelright shops, marble cutting yard, two foundries, three sash, door and blind factories and planing mills, brewery, and organ factory. The Corunna Manufacturing Company, with a capital of $100,000, and occupying an immense brick structure 200 feet in length and 80 in width, operates in all sorts of fancy wood work, but principally in the manufacture of gilt and fancy wood mouldings of all sizes, employing at present over fifty hands, and contemplating the employment of three times that number within the year. The greatest product of wealth, however, and which is destined to make Corunna one of the most important manufacturing towns of the interior of the State, is the bituminous coal and fire clay, which are now being successfully worked, just east of the city, to which a first class railroad branch has been laid by the D. & M. Company, running from the depot in the city to the coal banks. The coal vein now being mined is 82 feet below the surface, four feet in thickness, and is reached by an inclined shaft that drops one foot in three, The Engleman Transportation Company has recently bought one-half of the interest for $120,000, and will soon increase their present large force, when they expect to ship 80 to 100 tons a day. The Negaunee Iron and Coal Mining Company, composed of capitalists on Lake Superior, has been organized with a view of establishing smelting works at this point, during the current year. An excellent stone quarry for building purposes is also worked near the coal bed.

Corunna has also one National bank, one private bank, a printing office—the Shiawassee American—and five church edifices—Presbyterian, Methodist, Baptist, Univeralist and Roman Catholic, and an Episcopal church building. DENVER.

A postoffice in the western part of Newaygo county, on White river, 30 miles northeast of Montague. It has a weekly mail.

DETOUR.

A postoffice and small settlement at the easternmost extremity of Chippewa county, and at the mouth of the St. Mary's river. Its principal importance is as a wooding station for boats in the Lake Superior trade. Its inhabitants are pioneers and Indians. It is 60 miles southeast of Sault Ste Marie, the county seat, whence in the winter season it receives an overland mail.

DETROIT.

The chief city of Michigan, though located near the extreme southeast corner of the State. It is on the right bank of the Detroit River, 7 miles below lake St. Clair and 20 miles above lake Erie. Its latitude is 42° 20′ and longitude 82° 58′ west of Greenwich. It is 679 miles west of New York and 284 east of Chicago, by the usually traveled routes, and is 85 miles southeast of Lansing. It is the county seat of Wayne county.

HISTORY.

Detroit was founded in 1701 by a French adventurer, M. De la Motte Cadilac. A fort was here erected and called Fort Ponchartrain. A small military garrison and a few fur traders and jesuit missionaries made up the population. For about a century but little progress was made in growth and population, the interior of the state remaining an unbroken wilderness and the city being dependent for business on its indian trade alone.

In 1763 Detroit with the other French possessions in the north passed into the hands of the British. This was immediately followed by the famous Pontiac conspiracy, by which the indians sought to exterminate the white race throughout the northwest. The projected massacre was defeated at this point by the betrayal of the scheme by an indian girl to Major Gladwin, commander of the post, who was thus put on his guard. A siege of 11 months followed however, the fort holding out nobly against the enraged savages.

In 1796, under the supplementary treaty of peace with Great Britain, Detroit was turned over to the United States.

In 1778 the old fort had been removed, the village enlarged and a new fort erected on the high ground further back from the river. This was named Fort LeNoult and it occupied a space now bounded by Lafayette avenue, Congress street, a line a little east of Shelby street and one a little west of Wayne street. Heavy stockades extended from either side of the fort to the river, forming a rude triangle of which the river was the base. Within this stockade was comprised the village of Detroit. The streets were narrow, the widest being but 20 feet in width and the houses were low and mainly of wood. That in 1805 a fire should break out and sweep away the entire village was therefore not surprising. But a single house remained standing. Two years later Congress authorized the laying out of a city on a much more liberal scale, and made a grant of 10,000 acres of land to aid in defraying the cost of the necessary public improvements. The authorship of the plan of the new city is attributed to Judge Woodward. He was a man of exceedingly fanciful tastes and his plan, only a small portion of which is still retained, was a very remarkable one. Washington avenue was intended to have been extended to the river, terminating in a grand circus similar to the one at its northern extremity. Madison avenue did likewise. There were several squares similar to the present Campus Martius. The streets were of unusual width and access from one part of the city to another was exceedingly ready and convenient. But the objection was the amount of land wasted in streets and the angular shapes of a great proportion of the lots. So at a later period the Woodward plan was abandoned and the rectangular system substituted. Between the two, with the freedom which was accorded to every property-holder to lay out streets and subdivide his property after his own taste, Detroit is to-day perhaps as labyrinthine a city as any in the West.

In June 1812, war broke out with Great Britain, and on the 16th of August following, Gen. Hull, who was in command, surrendered the fort and city to Gen. Brock without any attempt to maintain a defense. Detroit remained in possession of the British till October 1813, when, as a result of the American victory at the battle of the Thames, it was recovered by the United States. The name of the fort was now changed to Shelby. At this time Detroit had a population of less than one thousand, and its growth for a long time continued to be very slow.

In 1831, when the population was something over 2,000, the first real step was taken towards opening up the interior and making it tributary to the city, in the commencing of the construction of the Detroit & St. Joseph (now Michigan Central) railroad. The work progressed slowly and it was February 3d, 1838, before any part of the line was opened for traffic. In the same year the Detroit & Pontiac railroad was opened to Royal Oak, and soon after to Pontiac. In this year or the year following a railroad also was opened to Utica, following the line of the present Detroit & Bay City railroad.

In 1836, and again in 1840, and still again in 1848, disastrous fires swept away large portions of the city,

In 1827 the fort was abandoned by the government, and being made over to the city was demolished, the earth forming its embankments being carted down to the river's edge and there dumped into the shallow water which had previously been a source of great unhealthfulness. The shore line was thus extended out into the river in some places as much as a full block.

In 1847, Detroit lost the prestige of being the capital of the State, the seat of government in that year being removed to Lansing.

In 1854 it secured direct communication with the East at all seasons of the year by the opening of the Great Western railway of Canada, and four years later a competing line in the completion of the Grand Trunk.

The growth of the city up to 1860 will be seen by the following table:

DETROIT IN 1860 AND 1875.

In, or just before, 1860, though occupying no less an area than at present, it was much more sparsely settled. The 9th and 10th wards were quite suburban in their character, the larger part of the Cass farm was still what its name indicated, and fields abutted on Woodward avenue within the two mile radius. Only a few leading thoroughfares were paved. There were neither street railways nor omnibus lines. Old fashioned drays did all the hauling. There were no public street lamps except in the central part of the city, Michigan avenue, Grand River avenue, Gratiot avenue and Woodward avenue being all in darkness after the first few blocks had been passed. Firemen's Hall, with neither galleries nor stage equipment, was the best public hall the city afforded. There were but three stone business fronts, and these all old fashioned two storied structures on Jefferson avenue. Two still remain in the First National bank and the old Peninsular bank buildings. Captain E. B. Ward's residence on Fort street, and N. P. Stewart's, on Jefferson avenue, were almost the only private residences of any pretensions. The finest stores were the block still standing on the east side of Woodward avenue, between Congress and Larned streets. Where the Merrill block now stands were a group of old gothic rookeries two stories in height. Griswold street was almost purely a residence street. The postoffice building was not yet completed, and the office itself occupied the basement of the Mariner's Church. On Woodward avenue there was little or no business above State street. Twelve hand engines, manned by volunteer companies constituted the fire department. Where the City Hall now stands there were a group of old wooden rookeries, once the depot building of the Michigan Central railroad, but

GROWTH IN 1850 AND 1853.

In, or just before, 1850, though occupying no less an area than at present, it was much more sparsely settled. The soil and roads were quite unlike in their character, the larger part of the Cass farm was still what is now indicated, and beside abutted on Woodward avenue within the two mile radius. Only a few leading thoroughfares were paved. There were neither street railways nor omnibus lines. Old fashioned drays did all the hauling. then occupied by second hand dealers and low saloons. The parks were uncared for and overgrown with tall grass and weeds. The Russell House was the only block of any pretensions fronting the Campus Martius. The Bishop School was the only modern school building. One ferry boat, the little Gem, accommodated all the traffic between Detroit and Windsor. There was no police force, no House of Correction, and only a black-hole for a jail.

Since 1860 the progress of Detroit has been very rapid. The population increased to 53,170 in 1864, to 79,577 in 1870, and to 101,255 in 1874.

The valuation of real and personal property increased to $74,509,303 in 1871, and $90,305,485 in 1874.

Large tracts that 15 years ago were open commons are now densely covered with houses. Business has passed the Grand Circus and pushed its way on Woodward avenue as far up as High street. Retail trade has almost entirely deserted Jefferson avenue and the lower part of Woodward. Even aristocratic Fort street has been invaded by stores. Griswold has become a business street second in importance to none other.

A $700,000 City Hall has been erected, which is the pride of Detroit and the envy of the rest of the world. A large opera house has been built and a second is in process of erection.

The school buildings of the city have increased in numbers, to 28 valued at $548.274 and possessing accommodations for 9,477 children. In the way of churches there have been added St. Patrick's, St. Aloysius', the church of Our Lady of Help, St. Joseph's, St. Albert's and St. Vincent de Paul's, all catholic; Christ Church, St. John's and Grace, Episcopal, the Central, Simpson, Tabernacle and Sixteenth Street Methodist. The First and Lafayette Avenue Baptist, the Woodward Avenue Congregational and St. John's German Evangelical, besides numerous others of smaller size and cheaper construction.

The paved streets (mostly wood pavement) now measure 55 miles. Sewers to the extent of 93 miles drain the city. Gas extends on all the leading streets, almost to the city limits. A fire department comprising 8 steam fire engines and a fire alarm telegraph, and second in perfection of equipment and general efficiency to none in the west, has supplanted the old volunteer system. A police force of 115 men, with three stations, and a police telegraph preserves the most perfect order. The Detroit House of Correction has long been regarded as a model prison. A public library of 23,000 volumes has grown up. Six companies operate street car lines, aggregating about 25 miles of travel. Three additional railroads have tapped the city, viz: the Canada Southern, the Detroit, Lansing and Lake Michigan, and the Detroit & Bay City. General business has immensely increased, as the daily bustle and life apparent on the streets attests.

THE CITY DESCRIBED.

Detroit is without doubt the best drained, the best paved, the best shaded, the cleanest, and in general the healthiest city in the west. It covers an area some 6 miles in length, up and down the river, by a depth of about 2½ miles. Having so much ground the dwellings are not crowded together in solid blocks, but are mostly detached, with plenty of intervening space. This with the wideness of the streets, and the prevalence of shade trees, gives the place more of a village than a city air, and contributes much to its pleasantness as a place of residence.

Churches are very numerous in proportion to the population, and are usually well attended. The school system is very perfect, bearing favorable comparison with that of any other city in the union. Society, too, from the less frequent changes that obtain here over other western cities, is more settled, refined and truly genteel. Thus as a place of residence it is unsurpassed by any place west of Boston. Indeed while the business activity and stir of Chicago is lacking, Detroit resembles Boston not a little in its social and literary atmosphere.

The Germans claim a third of the population. The Irish are rather less numerous. There is quite a large colored population, and the old original French element is still quite numerous. There are representatives also in considerable numbers of the various other European nationalities as Hollanders, Poles, Swedes, Norwegians, Swiss, Italians, etc., but this foreign element is eminently industrious, thrifty and orderly. Riots are almost wholly unknown. In general each family owns its homestead. The savings banks are well patronized, and vagrancy and pauperism are perhaps as little prevalent here as in any city of the same size.

In proportion to the population Detroit is quite a wealthy city. Most of the business operations of its citizens are based on real capital, owned by the parties using it and not borrowed elsewhere. This is a result perhaps of the extreme conservatism which borders a little on lack of enterprise, or which at least shuns speculation. This conservatism for which Detroit has been noted has restricted the growth of the city to a strictly healthy and natural one. It has prevented over-trading in any department of business, and thus we find an almost entire absence of inflation. Real estate is relatively cheap, and few branches of business are overdone. This condition of things renders Detroit a peculiarly inviting field for men of enterprise and capital to locate in. Competition has not dried up the vital sources of wealth.

Notwithstanding the admirable condition of all public works, the debt of the city is small, being but $983,751 90; or, including the debt of the water board, $2,084,751.90. Taxes are light, being less than one per cent on the real valuation of property. For a number of years past the financial affairs of the city have been managed with great wisdom and fidelity.

There are few great municipal wants unsupplied. The water supply, though at present ample, is about to be placed beyond a contingency of failure by the erection of new and independent pumping works a few miles above the city, preliminary work for which is now under contract. The next want, a bridge over or a tunnel under the river, for the more ready transfer of freight and passengers, is already agitated and its realization is only a question of time. The one other desideratum, a public park, was on the verge of being a realized fact, a large tract of land just above the city having been purchased for a site, when the enterprise was defeated by an adverse decision in the courts as to the constitutionality of the law authorizing the expenditure. It is still to be hoped that means will be found to secure an adequate park. An annual industrial and art exposition has been agitated and will no doubt be carried into effect. A new and commodious central union depot is expected to follow the settlement of the river transit problem. A strictly first-class hotel is wanted. A handsome library building will be erected during the current year, and a young men's Christian association building in the immediate future.

THE TRADE OF DETROIT.

The trade of Detroit is in a very healthy condition. The principal wholesale houses are old established concerns, with ample means and a secure trade. From figures compiled in June, 1874, by the Daily Post newspaper, it appears that there are in the leading branches of the jobbing trade nearly $9,000,000 of capital, and over 1,000 hands employed, including 126 drummers. This is entirely exclusive of such branches as manufacture their own goods, in whole or part. The aggregate jobbing sales reach nearly $30,000,000 per annum. The Post gives the details as follows:

	Capital.	Employes.	Sales.
Groceries	$2,000,000	175	$9,000,000
Fruits and Oysters.	180,000	60	625,000
Hardware	950,000	100	3,250,000
Dry Goods	1,000,000	84	3,700,000
Clothing	900,000	55	1,825,000
Millinery	115,000	40	510,000
Notions	155,000	24	325,000
Crockery	330,000	75	700,000
Drugs	670,000	74	2,325,000
Books	250,000	19	750,000
Paper & Stationery.	400,000	38	960,000
Leather & Findings	175,000	22	525,000
Ship Chandlery	105,000	85	455,000
Miscellaneous	1,419,000	85	3,640,000
Total	$8,649,000	936	$28,550,000

These figures are of course only approximations, as a large amount of jobbing is always done by the larger retail houses and by others who would not naturally be called upon.

No reliable estimate of the retail trade of the city has ever yet been made.

The Post places the annual produce trade of the city at $24,061,000, giving employment to $1,018,000 of capital and 122 hands. Thus, exclusive of the retail and manufacturing business of the city, nearly ten millions of capital and over one thousand hands are employed and annual sales are made to the extent of over $50,000,000.

DETROIT MANUFACTURES.

Detroit is essentially a manufacturing city, possessing from its easy water communication and its proximity to the inexhaustible mines and forests of the State, peculiar advantages, as yet, however, only very partially improved. There can be no doubt that the time is coming when the banks of the Detroit river will be lined with mills and factories, rendering it the Birmingham of the Northwest.

According to one authority, there are now actually about 400 different concerns in the city engaged strictly in manufacturing. The procuring of exact statistics on the subject is a matter of extreme difficulty. The Evening News, in January, 1875, made an earnest and conscientious effort in this direction, with results epitomized in the following table:

	Capital.	Hands employed.	Products.
Iron and machinery.	$4,500,000	3,000	$6,000,000
Railroad cars	750,000	850	1,925,000
Manufac'rs of wood	4,064,000	3,311	6,206,000
Tobacco and cigars	1,375,000	1,072	3,222,000
Boots and shoes	798,000	916	1,542,000
Clothing	812,000	1,480	1,687,000
Malt, beer and spirits	1,132,000	230	2,740,000
Flour	310,000	58	1,730,000
Pork and beef pack'g	450,000	150	1,120,000
Leather	830,000	260	2,000,000
Hats and furs	350,000	320	1,270,000
Chemicals	340,000	124	870,000
Bricks	100,000	375	360,000
Miscellaneous	765,000	707	2,077,000
	$16,576,000	12,953	$32,749,000

The Northwestern Manufacturers' Journal, in February, 1874, compiled statistics of the manufactures of Detroit, which showed $14,518,500 capital used, 12,157 hands employed, and $28,408,000 in value of product turned out. Though prepared entirely independently of each other, and arrived at in a different way, the nearness of the final results of the two estimates is very significant of approximate correctness.

Taking into account the number of manufacturers who refused to make any return, the large number of small concerns not called on, the extensive interests in Windsor and Wyandotte carried on by Detroit men and with Detroit capital, and the manufacturing of cars and machinery for their own use by the railroad companies, none of which appear in the above statement, and allowing for the fact that 1874 was a year of exceptional financial depression, and that in some branches, particularly in the manufacture of iron, business was almost entirely suspended during the year, it will not be deemed extravagant to place the aggregate manufactures of Detroit at the snug little annual sum of $50,000,000.

BANKS.

Detroit has never enjoyed banking facilities adequate to her extended trade and her manufacturing interests have no doubt suffered in consequence. Banking has nevertheless been profitable, and in the establishment of a few more national banks at this point a good field offers for capital. The present list of incorporated banks is as follows:

	Capital.	Deposits.
First National	$500,000	$1,060,800 26
Second National	1,000,000	667,048 10
American National	400,000	1,500,000 00
Merchants and Manuf'rs	300,000	471,239 25
Mechanics	100,000	402,892 25
Detroit Savings	200,000	1,435,594 66
German American	100,000	498,274 84
Peoples Savings	125,000	1,001,312 68
Wayne County Savings	50,000	1,128,433 70
Total	$2,775,000	$8,165,595 74

Besides these there are several private banks of considerable financial strength and doing an extensive business. These include A. Ives & Sons, David Preston & Co., Vincent J. Scott, Fisher, Booth & Co., Cromwell & Ralston, W. D. Morton, etc.

There are two insurance companies both in a healthy condition. These are the Detroit Fire and Marine and the Michigan Mutual Life Insurance Company.

RAILROADS.

The railroads centering in Detroit are 9 in number, as follows:

The Michigan Central, recognized as one of the best managed, and finest equipped roads in the west, extending to Chicago with branches to all important points in the State.

The Lake Shore & Michigan Southern to Chicago, Toledo, Cleveland and Buffalo.

The Detroit & Milwaukee to Grand Haven and Milwaukee.

The Great Western of Canada to Toronto and Buffalo.

The Grand Trunk of Canada to Port Huron, Buffalo, Toronto, Montreal, Quebec and Portland.

The Detroit, Lansing & Lake Michigan to Lansing, Howard City and Stanton.

The Detroit and Bay City to Bay City, Alpena and Mackinac.

The Detroit, Hillsdale & Indiana to Indianapolis.

The Canada Southern to Toledo and Buffalo

Additional lines giving the Flint & Pere Marquette an independent connection with Detroit and establishing a direct connection with Adrian and the southwest, are being more or less agitated.

Hon. James F. Joy, the railroad king of the west, resides in Detroit, and from this point manipulates the destinies of some thousands of miles of road.

THE NEWSPAPERS.

The press of Detroit does credit to the city. There are eight daily newspapers—3 German and 5 English. The oldest and perhaps the most prosperous and enterprising is the Detroit Free Press (Democratic). As a humorous journal, too, the Free Press is rapidly attaining a national reputation. The Daily Post occupies a front rank in ability among the republican political journals of the country. The Tribune possesses sterling merits as a carefully edited, reliable and conscientious newspaper, and its weekly edition enjoys a circulation superior to that of any other political paper in the State. The Evening News, a cheap or two cent afternoon paper, established in 1873, has, in the immense circulation it has attained (12,000 copies daily) and the degree of popularity and prosperity it has reached, proved one of the most striking newspaper successes of the age. The Daily Sun is a newly fledged afternoon paper, sold at one cent. The Commercial Advertiser, a literary and commercial weekly has a very wide circulation, and with the Michigan Farmer, Journal of Commerce and the Leader, and three religious papers creditably represents the field of weekly journalism.

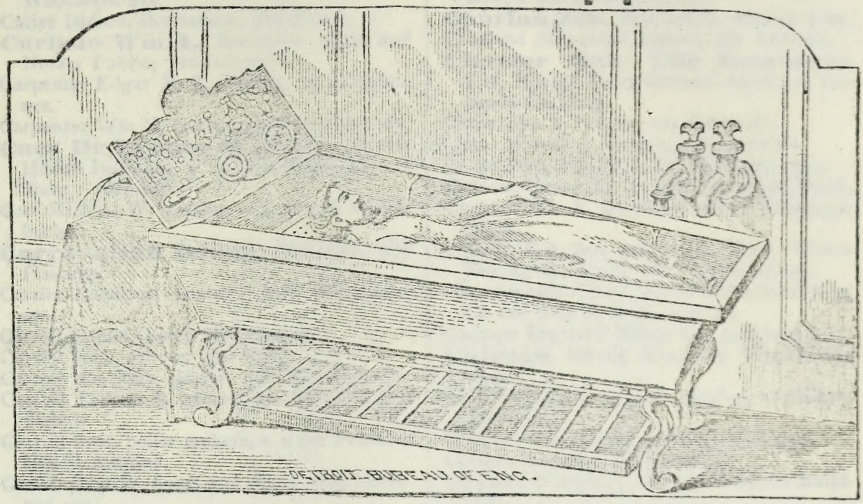
DR. CARR'S
Medical Electrical Apparatus,



And ELECTRO-THERMAL HYDRIC

B | A | T | H | S |.

Electricity has long been used in treating the sick, and if it has ever met with failures the fault was not with the Electricity at all, but owing entirely to the IMPERFECT APPARATUS and the IGNORANCE of the PRACTITIONER. This has been PROVED by the effects of the perfect apparatus now in use at the ELECTRICAL HEALTH INSTITUTE, Cor. State & Rowland Sts., Detroit, Michigan.

A fac-simile cut of which is at the head of this page. This is the most elaborate Medical Electrical Apparatus ever constructed in any part of the world. With this Apparatus, while the patient is in a bath (the water of which may be at any temperature, so as to produce a gentle or a profuse perspiration, or none at all as may be desired), a gentle, soothing, pain-removing, strengthening and toning current of Electricity may be made to permeate through the WHOLE BODY so as to be felt from the TONGUE TO THE TOES AT THE SAME MOMENT, or directed so as to be felt only in any single part or organ of the body, at the will of the operator. These currents are sent through the water, and nothing but the water is touching the body. After this electrical bath, the patient is placed on a couch or stool, and the Electricity from the Perfect Apparatus is applied with a sponge electrode down the spine and over the affected parts; and so patients who have been under treatment for many years, and spent thousands of dollars going from one water cure to another, and from one magnetic or mineral spring to another, are cured in from one to three months.

With this Apparatus and Bath we are especially successful in curing Acute and Chronic Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Paralysis, Softening of the Brain, and all kinds of Fits, Spinal Curvature and Affections of the Spine, all derangements of the Brain, St. Vitus Dance, General Debility, Nervous Debility, all derangements of the Nervous System, Insanity, diseases arising from a disturbed and imperfect circulation of Vital Forces and Impure Blood, from a diseased Liver or Kidneys, IMPOTENCY, in both sexes, and all FEMALE COMPLAINTS, Constipation, Dyspepsia, diseases of the Heart, and first stages of Consumption. And all diseases where the conditions of Torpor, Weakness and Congestion exist, thus covering all forms of Chronic Diseases, and all pains in every part of the body. In from one day to thirty every case will see a decided change for the better, and in three months, cases who have been as many years hunting health, are cured.

Invalids from abroad accommodated with board and rooms in the immediate vicinity of the INSTITUTE.
The cost of this Apparatus complete is $350.00, manufactured and sold by DR. L. W. CARR, Detroit, Mich.

The following is from well-known citizens: We believe that in the interest of an afflicted public, Dr. Carr's system of treating Chronic Diseases deserves the widest publicity and patronage. We speak from a practical knowledge:

F. M. Merick, B. Hubbard, Ray Haddock, E. S. Barbour, J. E. King, Avonet Richmond, Geo. Hargraves, James Donaldson, E. Wolfenden, J. S. Stridiron, C. Schulenburg, Horatio Crain, Prof. Karl Heintz, R. W. Linn, Gibraltar, C. J. Kruger, Grand Rapids, J. H. Gidley, M. D., Battle Creek, and one hundred and fifty others. For further particulars, call on or address

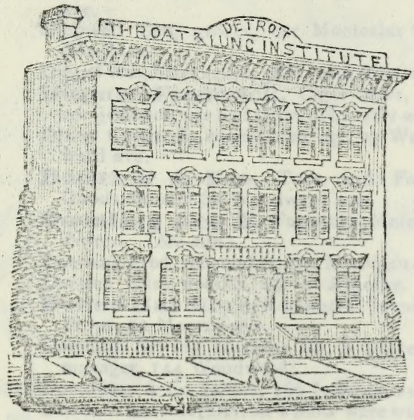
INSTITUTE.

M. HILTON WILLIAMS, M. D., Proprietor,

No. 251 Woodward Avenue,



Permanently established for the cure of all diseases of the Head, Throat and Chest, viz: Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption and all forms of Lung Diseases, Loss of Voice, Sore Throat, Enlarged Tonsils, Croup, Diptheria, Whooping Cough, etc. Also diseases of the EYE and EAR, through the most approved System of Inhalation Steam Atomizer and Silver Showering Syringe.

EXAMINATION of the Throat with the reflected light of the Larnycoscope revealing each and every part of the throat and vocal cords.

☞CONSULTATION FREE.☜

In connection with the above, we have established the

ELECTRIC AND MEDICATED BATHS,

Thus making this the most complete and perfect Institution west of New York City. These Baths are particularly adapted to all NERVOUS, BLOOD and SKIN DISEASES. Also, DISEASES and WEAKNESSES of Women, and the cures that have been made with these Baths are truly wonderful, especially in Nervous Diseases of Women.

Persons from the country, who desire, can secure board in the Institute at very reasonable rates, or they can use the remedies at home.

If possible call personally for an examination, otherwise write for "List of Questions" and "Circular," both of which will be sent free of charge. Address

BERKSHIRE

Life Insurance Company,

OF PITTSFIELD, MASS.

Incorporated 1851. Twenty-four years successful Business. One of the Oldest and Most Reliable Companies in the Country.

Why should you Insure in the Berkshire Life Insurance Company?

Because it is a First-Class Company in every respect. Because, in addition to being sound and responsible, its policies are absolutely non-forfeitable. Because, under the laws of its organization, policy-holders are secured against loss in the event of a failure to pay premiums when due.

FOR EXAMPLE:

Policy No. 5,869. Bernard O'Grady, of Detroit, Mich., insured October 7, 1867, for $3,000. Life, 10 payments. Premium, $173.10.

This policy lapsed for non-payment of premium, October 7, 1868. Mr. O'Grady died at Detroit, August 18, 1871, and the Company paid the claim less three premiums and interest. Mr. O'Grady would have remained insured until December 3, 1871.

Policy No. 4,717. Lawrence Byrnes, of Boston, Mass. Insured January 2, 1867, for $5,000. Endowment 15 years.

This Policy lapsed for non-payment of premium January 2, 1871. Mr. Byrnes died at Worcester, Mass., March 29, 1874, and the Company will pay the claim, when due, less four premiums, with interest. Mr. Byrnes would have remained insured until November 10, 1886.

COMPETENT and RELIABLE Men wanted for District and Local Agents.

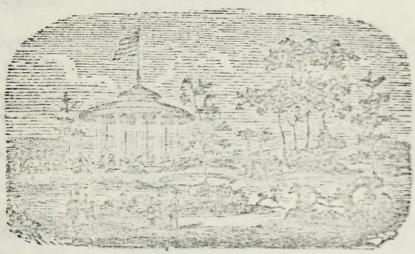
DUNBAR'S

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

BETHESDA

MINERAL WATER.



WAUKESHA, - WISCONSIN.

We claim Bethesda to be a sure cure in all cases of Diabetes, Inflammation of the Kidneys Inflammation of the Neck of the Bladder and Urethra, Inflammation of the Bladder, Dropsy, Gouty Swellings, Stoppage of Urine, Albumenuria, Ropy or Cloudy Urine, Brick Dust Deposit, Thick Morbid Bilious and Dark Appearing Urine, Burning Sensation with Sharp Pains when voiding Urine, Hemorrhage of the Kidneys, Pain in the Kidneys and Loins, Torpid Liver, Indigestion Calculus, and Female Weakness.

There is no remedial agent known to man that can cure the foregoing diseases as effectually as Bethesda Water. This fact has been demonstrated wherever the water has been used according to directions, which can be had at the General Agents, by application to him. The water is sweet and pleasant to the taste. It can be drank at all hours. Why should any one suffer while the water is so easily obtained.

DETROIT JUNCTION.

Locally known as Grand Trunk Junction, a suburb of Detroit, at a point just west of the city, whence six different railroad lines radiate, 5 of the 6 running into Detroit from thence over the M. C. R. R. track. The various roads are the Canada Southern, the L. S. & M. S. R. R., the M. C. R. R., the D. L. & L. M. R. R., the Detroit & Bay City and the Grand Trunk railway of Canada. The number of trains passing and repassing this point daily is enormous, and as all stop here, this is one of the busiest railroad centers in the west. The cheapness of land hereabouts is fast luring manufacturers from the city. The Detroit Bridge and Iron Works have long been located near by. The Michigan Car Company removed thither a year or two since, and in 1874 all the car and repair shops and engine houses of the Michigan Central were removed to this point. Besides these there is an extensive slaughter and packing house and several extensive brick yards in the immediate vicinity. It is also the location of the railroad cattle yards. Considerable property has lately been platted and sold, and the Junction is destined ere long to become a populous and busy quarter of Detroit. A postoffice has been established under the title of Detroit Junction. Augustus R. Sink, postmaster.

DEVEREAUX,

A postoffice and railway station in a thickly settled farming country in the town of Parma, Jackson county. It is on the Lansing branch of the L. S. & M. S. R. R., 6 miles north of Albion and 31 from Lansing. The nearest express and telegraph offices are at Springport, the next station north. There is a settlement of about 100 people about the depot. Wheat, live stock, poultry and apples are shipped. L. H. King, postmaster.

DEXTER.

Dexter is a handsome little village of some 1,500 inhabitants, on the M. C. R. R., 48 miles west of Detroit. It is in the town of Scio, Washtenaw county, 9 miles northwest of Ann Arbor.

It is located at the junction of the Huron river and Mill creek, on a high and dry gravelly soil, rendering its streets almost equivalent to a pavement and easy to be kept in repair. The town is well laid out and well provided with fine residences.

Its school accommodations are first-class. Its other public buildings consist of four churches—Baptist, Methodist, Episcopal and Catholic, the latter being a fine brick edifice just completed.

The manufacturing enterprises of the town consist of the two flouring mills and plaster mills of Evarts & Co., and R. P. Copland, the cider and planing mill, sash, blind and door factory of Phelps & Sill Bros., woolen mill and saw mill of L. Palmer & Son., carriage and wagon factories of J. Bailey and William Kerns & Co.

The town has one local paper, the Dexter Leader, independent republican in politics, published by A. McMillan.

Dexter was settled about 1823, by Hon. S. C. W. Dexter, from Boston. For a long time it was the frontier settlement in this State, beyond which all was wilderness, traversed only by Indian trails. The Michigan Central was opened to Dexter on July 4th, 1841.

EAST SAGINAW.

This thriving city is one of the wonders of the State in the rapidity of its growth, the aggregation of its capital, its enterprise, and the aggregate of its manufacturing and commercial interests.

LOCATION.

East Saginaw is situated on the right or east bank of the Saginaw river, about 16 miles above its mouth. It is 200 miles from Detroit by river and lake and 98 by rail.

This city, the site of which was a wilderness 23 years ago, now contains a population of 17,084 within its chartered limits, and from 3,000 to 5,000 more in the suburbs connected with it. The city extends along the river, nearly north and south, a distance of three miles or over, and at points extends over a mile back, covering an area of four to five square miles, and is now pretty well built over. There are some very fine streets, many of which are paved with wood pavement or substantially planked.

PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS.

Among the most important features in this line are the water works, known as the "Holly System." The water is taken from the Tittabawassee river, three miles above the business centre of the city, and is distributed through about 20 miles of iron pipes, furnishing an abundant supply for all public and private purposes. Over 100 fire hydrants are provided, which furnish efficient protection from the devouring element. The total cost of the water works was about $350,000.

The sewerage system of the city is another most important feature. At present there are about five miles of substantial brick and pipe sewers, which furnish good drainage and add largely to the good health and convenience of the people. The cost of sewers up to the present time has been about $160,000.

No city in the State is probably better provided with school facilites than this. There are twelve school houses, under the control of the Board of Education, with a seating capacity for nearly 3,000 scholars. The expenditures for school purposes for the year 1874 were upwards of $65,000 and the cash value of the school property is put at about $200,000. The public library contains about 3,500 volumes.

The assessed valuation of the city is about $3,500,000 and its total bonded debt is about $750,000.

BUILDINGS, ETC.

East Saginaw has no public buildings except such as have been built by its municipal authorities or by private enterprises. Among the former are the water works buildings, two large brick and four frame fire department buildings, and the public school buildings, six of which are brick.

In the way of churches, the Baptist, Congregationalist, Methodist, Lutheran, Presbyterian and German Methodist societies have substantial brick edifices, and the Episcopalians and colored Baptists have frame buildings.

The very large number of elegant private residences is a most notable feature of this place.

The business portion of the city is mostly of brick three and four story buildings, having a substantial appearance. There are several fine stone structures, such as the Merchants' National Bank, the new Hoyt Block, and the railroad buildings.

There are two places of amusement, the "Academy of Music," one of the pleasantest and neatest public halls in the State, capacity for seating 1,800 people, and the "Opera House," which is smaller, both situated on Washington street.

East Saginaw is well supplied with good hotels, among them the far famed Everett House, the Bancroft House, the Sherman House, the Irving House, and others.

There are about twenty saw and shingle mills within the city limits, among which are some of the most complete in the State.

MANUFACTURES AND TRADE.

East Saginaw is the principal center of the immense lumber trade of this section of the State, which aggregates over 500,000,000 feet of pine lumber annually, besides lath, shingles, etc., and a large quantity of oak timber and staves, and a large product in butternut, walnut, cherry and ash. The manufacture of salt has increased very largely, the total product for 1874 being over 1,000,000 barrels, fully one-half of all produced and marketed in Saginaw county. Many of the heaviest lumber and salt operators reside here, and direct their operations from this point, and this makes East Saginaw not only the center of an immense lumbering supply trade, but its general wholesale trade reaches for long distances out upon the railroad lines and up the Lake Huron shore to Mackinaw.

Four extensive planing mills, three cabinet factories, four breweries, two flouring mills, four foundries and machine shops, one brass foundry, two lime kilns, one large car shop, and three ship yards, comprise the leading manufacturing interests.

RAILROADS.

The following are the lines of railroad now in operation and centering here: The F. & P. M., from Toledo to Ludington; the J., L. & S., from Jackson to Otsego Lake, and Saginaw Valley & St. Louis; the Chicago, Saginaw & Canada railroad soon to be added, which will give a direct route eastward, now greatly desired.

MISCELLANEOUS.

East Saginaw has the usual quota of associations and societies, among which are the Masonic, in its several degrees and subdivisions, the I. O. O. F., the German clubs and associations, Good Templars, etc.

Two daily newspapers are published here, the Republican and the Courier (Dem.), and one German paper, the Weekly Zeitung.

The government is now engaged in improving the navigation of the river, which has been somewhat obstructed by bars, and for the season of 1875, it is anticipated, a good channel with 10 feet of water will be opened the whole length of the river.

There are two hospitals, one built by the city, and one under the management of the "Sisters of Charity." The "Home for the Friendless," is a worthy benevolent institution.

East Saginaw has three National and two private banks, and a savings bank organized under the State law. The capital engaged in this department is considerably in excess of $1,000,000.

Among the public institutions of the place are its splendid driving park and the fair grounds. These are beautifully situated and have a track one mile long and level as a floor.

The East Saginaw Lumber Exchange, the Young Men's Library Association, the German Syra Musical Association, are among other local institutions of prominence and note.

SETTLEMENT AND GROWTH.

East Saginaw was practically begun in 1850. The tract of land forming the original "Hoyt plat," first taken up by Charles Little, of Saginaw, but at the time held by the Michigan State bank, was purchased in 1849 by Hon. Norman Little, as agent of Jesse Hoyt and others, of New York. The location and building of a village was immediately commenced. The land, up to that time a wilderness, with only one cabin, occupied by a fur trader, was platted, a portion of it cleared, a saw mill, a few dwellings and offices erected, a few families and boarders sheltered, and the embryo city sprang into life, soon to outgrow the expectations of its most sanguine founders. A flouring mill was erected, buildings, dwellings and stores added. During the succeeding year, 1851, a plank road, projected and mostly built through the enterprise and capital of the founders of East Saginaw, was opened to Flint, opening up to the Saginaw valley an avenue of travel and supplies for the lumber woods, not before enjoyed. Within two years it had from 1,000 to 1,500 inhabitants. Within five years it received a village charter, within ten became a city, and now, with a growth of 25 years, has a population of 17,000, rapidly increasing, and presenting all the signs of modern improvement and progress.

The indications for the future growth of East Saginaw are good, the immense wealth of the timber and salt basin of which it is the center, the opening of new lines of railroads and the improvement of the water ways, the rapid development of the farming interest, and the superior facilities for manufacturing, are points in its favor that are too prominent to be ignored. Starting from nothing in 1850, in the short space of a quarter of a century it has risen to a prosperous and wealthy city, distancing all competitors, with two exceptions in the State.

There is no good reason why its future growth should not equal, if it does not excel the past. With its sister "City of Saginaw," and the adjoining village of Carrollton, there is an aggregation of nearly 40,000 population, upon a space of territory averaging six miles long by four miles wide.

When the time shall come that all these people and interests shall be merged together, it will rank as the second in population, wealth and productive industry in the commonwealth.

EATON RAPIDS.

Eaton Rapids is a flourishing incorporated village of some 2,500 inhabitants in the township of the same name in the southeast corner of Eaton county. It is situated at the intersection of the Grand River Valley division of the M. C. R. R., and the Lansing branch of the L. S. & M. S. R. R. On the former road it is 24 miles west of Jackson and on the latter 20 north of Albion, and 17 south of Lansing. It is 10 miles from Charlotte the county seat. Grand river flows through the village and furnishes power for one large flouring mill. Besides this there are a carding mill, a sash, door and blind factory, a foundry and a stave factory. There are a number of stores, and the place enjoys a fine trade with the surrounding country. But the place is chiefly famous for its mineral waters, it claiming indeed the appellation of the Saratoga of Michigan. Artesian wells are sunk a few hundred feet, when the waters possessing strong magnetic properties flow from the surface in copious streams. They are slightly cathartic in their effects, and are highly extolled for their cures in cases of dyspepsia and also rheumatic affections. The great number of people that flock to Eaton Rapids for the benefit of the waters, led to the erection of several large hotels. The largest of these, the Vaughan House, was recently destroyed by fire. The Anderson House is a large four story brick, with all the modern improvements, and handsomely fitted up. The Frost House is a less pretentious but comfortable hotel. Besides the drinking and bathing on the spot, large quantities of the water are bottled or barreled for shipment to all parts of the country. The village has Methodist, Congregational, Baptist and Episcopal churches, good schools and other features making it a desirable place of residence. It is reached by both the American and United States Express Companies. Telegraph, Western Union. H. N. Hamilton, postmaster.

F. A. ROCKWITH, M. D.,

General Operative and Ophthalmic Surgeon,

Consulting Physician and Specialist in the Diseases of the Mind and Nervous System.

Formerly a Professor in the Homeopathic Medical College of New York; as also in the New York Medical College for Women; active and honorary member of various medical and other learned societies in this country and Europe, etc.

N. B.—Dr. R. has permission to refer to many of the most eminent medical gentlemen in New York, Philadelphia, Boston or Chicago, and is well known as a medical writer throughout all homeopathic literature.

The Chicago Medical Investigator of Sept., 1873, Vol. X. says: Removals.

"Frank A. Rockwith, M. D., from Newark, N. J., to East Saginaw, Mich., the sea air being detrimental to his health. We congratulate the medical fraternity of Michigan in this acquisition to their ranks. They will find him scientific in any department of medicine, and an excellent counselor.

From The Medical Union of New York, June, 1873:

Dr. Frank A. Rockwith, is about to remove from Newark, N. J., to resume practice again in East Saginaw, Mich. The Doctor will be welcomed after his long absence by many of his old friends. He carries with him a ripe experience as a physician and a reputation as a skillful and successful surgeon. As one of the most indefatigable workers in the profession, whether as physician, professor or scientist, we predict a success for him in his new home and congratulate our Michigan friends upon this accession to their ranks of one of the most accomplished men in the profession.

The Newark, N. J. Evening Courier, of May, 1872, in an article on "homeopathy" by Dr. W. W. Tuffts, speaks of Dr. R. in the most flattering terms as a surgeon, and relates a large number of his operations, as published in various medical journals.

ESCANABA.

The county seat of Delta county, an incorporated village of 3,185 inhabitants, situated in Escanaba township, on the west shore of Little Bay du Noquet, an arm of Green Bay. It is also on the Peninsula division of the Chicago & Northwestern R. R., 356 miles north of Chicago, and 76 south of Marquette. It is one of the three shipping points for the upper peninsula iron ore, and rivals Marquette in the extent of these shipments. It has two extensive iron docks, with facilities for receiving and shipping 700 loaded cars of ore per day. There are 1,050 of these cars employed between the iron mines and Escanaba, and each carries 7½ tons at a load. The shipments for four years past have been:

1871.....439,775 gross tons.
1872.....488,821 "
1873.....486,929 "
1874.....341,273 "

The other material interests of Escanaba comprise an iron furnace, a planing mill and brewery, 3 hotels, 3 churches, 2 school buildings and a weekly newspaper, the Escanaba Tribune Good farming land lies within a few miles of the village, and the Escanaba river, which rises in the iron region, and here flows into the lake, furnishes water power. The village was first settled in 1863. Express, American. Telegraph, Northwestern. E. P. Royce, postmaster.

FENTON,

An incorporated village in Genesee county.

(See Fentonville.)

FENTONVILLE,

A thriving incorporated village in the township of Fenton, Genesee county. It is on the D. & M. R. R., 50 miles from Detroit, and 5 miles west of Holly. The north branch of the Shiawassee river flows through the village, affording a good water power. The village contains a population of 2,446. It was first settled in 1834, and named after Hon. Wm. Fenton, one of its early settlers, and father of the late Col. Wm. M. Fenton, of Flint. It became incorporated in 1863. It is surrounded by a good rolling farming country, in which all the products of the State grow in abundance. Wheat, wool, pork, butter, eggs and apples form the leading articles of shipment. Fentonville numbers among its manufacturing interests a woolen factory, extensive flouring mills, a saw mill, two planing mills and sash factories, a knitting factory, a pump factory, a foundry and machine shop, an agricultural implement factory, etc.

There are two local papers, Gazette and Independent.

In educational advantages Fentonville is second to few towns in the State. In addition to a large union and two ward schools, the Baptists of Michigan have here a seminary which has cost somewhere from $30,000 to $40,000. The Episcopalians have also erected to seminaries in different parts of the village, one for gentlemen and one for ladies. The former, though not entirely completed, has been in use a portion of the past year. The latter is not yet ready for occupancy.

There are five churches—Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian, Episcopal and Catholic, the two former of which are fine edifices. The Universalists contemplate building.

There is a beautiful lake about two miles from Fentonville, which is becoming a great resort for pleasure seekers. There are two steam pleasure boats and a number of yachts upon it. Abundance of fish are found in it.

Express—American. Telegraph—Western Union. Wm. Guest, postmaster.

FLINT.

The county seat of Genesee county and one of the most beautiful and thrifty of the smaller cities of Michigan. It is situated at the intersection of the F. & P. M. R'y, with the Chicago and Lake Huron R. R., and is 64 miles northwest of Detroit, 34 miles southeast of East Saginaw, 66 miles west of Port Huron and 108 north of Toledo. It contains by the last census a population of just 4,200. It is situated on the Flint river, a branch of the Saginaw, which affords the facilities for an extensive lumber business at this point. There are 9 saw mills and as many planing mills, with 5 sash, door and blind factories. The saw mills cut in 1874 about 52,000,000 feet of lumber, 15,000,000 shingles and 8,000,000 lath. About $1,600,000 of capital is used and employment is afforded for 428 men. From an elaborate report of the business interests of Flint, published December 31st, 1874, in the Flint Globe, the following table showing the manufactures of Flint is compiled:

No.	Manufactures.	Capital.	Hands.	Product.
3	Brick	$10,000	34	$21,000
4	Harness	8,000	10	25,200

Flint has three banks, two national and one savings. Aggregate capital $375,000, average deposits $320,000.

The produce handled at Flint includes 170,000 bushels wheat, 262,500 bushels oats, 62,000 bushels corn, 24,350 bushels potatoes, 5,558 barrels apples, 19,500 pounds poultry, 17,300 dozens eggs, 190,000 pounds butter, 1,090 tons hay, 227,000 pounds wool, 10,300 hogs, etc., aggregating in value $1,103,000.

Flint has 8 churches and 6 hotels. The Thayer House, which is decidedly the best Hotel in the city, is centrally located and in close connection with the railroad depot. Every attention is paid to guests by its clerks, and the table is supplied with every delicacy the season affords. Its schools have always been excellent. They employ 29 teachers and have 1,974 scholars on their rolls.

Not less than $250,000 worth of building was done during the year 1874.

Flint has three excellent weekly newspapers, the Globe and the Citizen, republican, and the Democrat. It also has a scientific institute, a ladies' library association, a riding park association and various Masonic and Odd Fellows lodges.

The Michigan institution for the education of the Deaf and Dumb and the Blind, now in a very flourishing condition, is located a short distance southwest of the city. John Algoe, postmaster.

FLUSHING.

Flushing is a thriving village in Flushing township, Genesee county. It is situated on the Flint river, 10 miles northeast of the city of Flint. The river here affords abundance of water power, which has been improved to some extent. The surrounding country is fertile, and produces wheat, corn, oats, barley, potatoes, etc. Flour, lumber, shingles and rakes are shipped. There are in the vicinity a number of quarries of excellent building stone, the beauty and utility of which will in time bring it into very general use. A fine specimen of it can be seen in the Episcopal church at Flint. Builders will do well to visit Flushing before deciding on their material. The manufactories include a grist mill, a foundry, 2 saw mills, an ashery, a rake factory, two cider mills, etc. There are three churches and excellent schools in the place. Population about 1,000. There is a daily mail to Flint. Mrs. Mary M. Hills, postmistress.

GRAND HAVEN.

It is situated on the shore of lake Michigan, at the mouth of Grand river, in the northwest corner of Ottawa county, for which it is the seat of justice. Grand Haven is the western terminus of the D. & M. R. R., by which it is distant from Detroit 189 miles; it is also a station on the Michigan Lake Shore R. R., and is 9 miles west of the junction of D. & M. R. R. with the C. & M. L. S. R. R., being 185 miles from Chicago by the latter route. Two other roads are in process of construction, the Fruitport, Saginaw & Canada R. R., and the Michigan and Ohio R'y. Besides its excellent railroad facilities, Grand Haven is also one of the important ports of lake Michigan. It is accessible by the following lines of steamers: Engleman's day and night line from Milwaukee; Goodrich's line from Chicago; Engleman's daily line from Manistee, Pentwater, Ludington and Muskegon, and by Ganoe's daily line from Grand Rapids.

EARLY HISTORY.

Rix Robinson, an agent of the Northwestern Fur Company, who established a trading post here in 1825, was the first white settler. The village was laid out by Wm M. Ferry, better known as "Father Ferry," who came here in 1835, and who built the first frame house. The first store and warehouse was established by Robinson, White & Williams, in 1836: the first saw mill by Butts & Hutchins, in 1835; and the first steam saw mill was constructed by Mr. Ferry in 1836. The population of the village at this time was about 200, and there was no material increase till 1840, when a colony of Hollanders arrived, about 350 of whom settled here. Grand Haven was chartered as a city in 1867, and George Parks was its first mayor. The present population is estimated at 6,000.

MANUFACTURES.

The principal manufacture is lumber. There are several saw mills, which turn out an aggregate of 1,500,000 per week; an extensive shingle mill, with a capacity of 200,000 per day. A agricultural implement factory, a sash, door and blind factory, a foundry and machine shop are the other principal manufactures.

PROMINENT BUILDINGS.

Within the corporate limits are 11 churches, 2 good ward schools, and a fine union school building which cost $50,000. The Cutler House, erected at a cost of $200,000, is a beautiful structure, and a hotel first-class in all its appointments. The Kirby House, erected in 1874, at a cost of $50,000, is a substantial and well kept hotel.

NEWSPAPERS.

Two weekly newspapers are published here—the "Grand Haven News," by John H. Mitchell, and the "Grand Haven Herald," by Morris & Dubois.

ATTRACTIONS AS A SUMMER RESORT.

One of the most attractive features of the place, and one which tends to make it more widely known, is its celebrated Magnetic Mineral Spring. It is said that not less than 15,000 persons visited Grand Haven during the past summer for the benefit of these health-giving waters. Spring lake, which lies adjacent, is a beautiful sheet of water, nine miles in length; it affords fine opportunities for fishing and sailing. In addition to these attractions, and to the broad area of lake Michigan, with its surf-bathing, Grand Haven is in the center of the great fruit-belt of Michigan. Asa Reynolds, postmaster.

GRAND RAPIDS.

The second in size and importance of the cities of Michigan, and the county seat of Kent county. It is situated on Grand river in the western part of the State, 157 miles northwest of Detroit, 70 miles a little north of west of Lansing, and 48 miles about due north of Kalamazoo.

It is reached from the east by the Detroit & Milwaukee R. R. and the Grand River Valley branch of the Michigan Central R. R., both connecting it with Detroit. Two railroads extend southward, the Grand Rapids & Indiana connecting at Fort Wayne with the Pennsylvania system of roads, and the Kalamazoo division of the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern connecting with the main line of that important road at White Pigeon. Another road, a branch of the Chicago & Michigan Lake Shore railroad, extends in a southwesterly direction to Holland on the shore of Lake Michigan, and the Detroit & Milwaukee extending westward connects it with Grand Haven, at the mouth of Grand river. In a northwesterly direction a road extends to the Muskegon river at Newaygo, and northward the G. R. & I. R. R., reaches to Grand Traverse and Petoskey, stretching further to the north than any other road in the lower peninsula. Grand Rapids thus has railroads radiating in eight different directions, rendering it a really important railroad center — excepting Detroit, the most important in the State.

The city lies on both sides of Grand river, at this point 800 feet wide, 30 miles above its mouth, and at the head of navigation. The river here has a fall of some 10 feet, affording probably the finest water power in the west, and which is giving Grand Rapids a leading position as a manufacturing city.

From the river banks the ground rises rapidly into high bluffs, the summits of which afford most magnificent views and the most healthful of atmospheres.

The growth of the city has been very rapid, as the following figures show:

Population per census of 1860.....	8,085
" " " " 1870.....	16,507
" " " " 1874.....	25,989

It enjoys great natural resources for wealth, being surrounded by a splendid agricultural country, being the location of inexhaustible beds of gypsum, and being the natural outlet for the immense quantities of pine and hardwood timber grown on Grand river and its tributaries, and on the lines of railroads leading north.

MANUFACTURES.

The natural water privilege is improved by the construction of dams at the head of the rapids, 6½ feet high, and two canals, one on either side of the river, carrying the water to the mills and factories along the river banks. The east side canal is half a mile in length, and from 30 to 140 feet wide. It is completely lined with factories. The west side canal is 3300 feet long, from 50 to 100 feet wide and affords a head of water of 15 feet. The principal manufacturing establishments may be tabulated as follows:

	Hands employed.	Product.
7 Furniture factories	720	$1,350,000
1 Barrel factory	200	300,000
1 Stave factory		120,000
3 Agr'l implement factories	75	210,000
1 Brush factory	160	75,000
6 Wagon & carriage factories	140	300,000
6 Foundries and machine shops	182	362,000
9 Sash, door & blind factories	250	400,000
2 Burial case factories		75,000
1 Axe factory		20,000
2 Boot & shoe factories		55,000
1 Saddlery & trunk factory.		50,000
2 Cigar factories		55,000
1 Chair factory	130
Lumber		800,000
Plaster		400,000

Altogether some 3000 hands are employed and fully $6,500,000 in value of manufactured product turned out. Among the leading items turned out may be mentioned 60,000,000 feet of pine lumber, 100,000 tons of plaster, etc. One manufacturer, Wm. Harrison, ships away annually 1500 wagons. The Union Stave Co do an immense business in the manufacture of coopers' stock, their sales amount to $160,000 annually.

BUILDINGS AND PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS.

Among the principal buildings of Grand Rapids may be noted, 9 churches ranging in cost from $30,000 to $80,000 with a $100,000 catholic cathedral, in process of erection; the central school building, a fine brick structure with tower 130 feet high, and 11 other school buildings, 7 of them permanent brick structures; Sweet's hotel a five story building, covering half an acre of ground, and first class in all its appointments; Ledyard's block, etc. There are 128 stores which boast modern plate glass fronts.

There are over three miles of stone pavement, besides some wood. A street railway extends the entire length of the city, north and south. The city is lighted with gas. Water works have lately been inaugurated at a cost of $260,000, employing a 6,000,000 gallon reservoir, 12 miles of pipe, and 137 hydrants. A system of sewers has also been commenced. Three fine covered bridges span the river.

TRADE AND INSTITUTIONS OF THE CITY.

There are 4 exclusively wholesale grocery houses in Grand Rapids, one wholesale drug house, and several in other branches of trade which job only, besides a great number which combine wholesaling with a retail trade.

There are two national banks, one savings and three private banks.

The public schools are in a highly prosperous condition, having 4,819 pupils enrolled, and a free library of over 6,000 volumes. There is also a very flourishing business college and telegraphic institute under the control of Mr. C. G. Swensberg. It has lately moved into the new Ledyard block, rooms having been fitted up expressly for its accommodation, which are probably unsurpassed by those of any institution of the kind in the country. The college is highly and deservedly popular, and has a large patronage from the entire western part of the State.

The churches include one Congregational, one Episcopal, two Methodist, one Baptist, one Presbyterian, one Dutch Reformed, one Universalist and three Catholic—all but one or two of which possess permanent and handsome church edifices.

Grand Rapids has 4 daily newspapers, the Eagle, republican, the Democrat, the Times, independent, and the Evening News, also independent. There are also seven weekly papers, prominent among which is the Saturday Evening Post, one of the spiciest papers in the State.

Grand Rapids has the free postal delivery system, and employs 8 letter carriers. The general government has now in hand the subject of the erection of a government building at this point.

Neither the city nor county are yet provided with suitable buildings for offices, but their speedy erection is looked forward to.

The fire department consists of 3 steam fire engines, with a fire alarm telegraph.

HISTORY.

In 1821 the tribe of Ottawas ceded to the United States a mile square of land on the present site of Grand Rapids for a mission station, the government agreeing to maintain a teacher and a blacksmith, thereon, at an expenditure of $1,000 a year. The mission was established in 1824 by Rev. L. Slater, a Baptist clergyman, and a few other white men. Soon after Lewis Campau, an indian trader removed thither from Detroit at the instance of the North Western Fur Company. When in 1833 the land in this vicinity was brought into market, Mr. Campau secured the tract now the site of the city of Grand Rapids. In that year settlers began to pour in, and by 1837 it had become quite a village. The well known Father Baraga, afterwards Catholic bishop of Lake Superior, was about this time conducting a mission among the indians on the west side of the river. In 1834 the first town meeting was held there being just 9 voters present. In the same year a portion of the present Rathbun house was erected. The place grew rapidly, shared in the speculation of 1836, and for several years after the collapse of 1837 suffered a severe depression. The first newspaper was printed here in 1837. The first bridge across the river was built in 1843. In 1854 a plank road was completed to Kalamazoo. In 1857 the city was first lighted with gas. The first train of cars entered Grand Rapids on July 10th, 1858. This was upon the completion of the D. & M. R. R. Nine years later the section of the G. R. & I. R. R., extending north to Cedar Springs was opened for business, and in 1870 completed southward to Fort Wayne. The Kalamazoo, Allegan & Grand Rapids road, now the L. S. & M. S. R. R., came in in 1869, and the G. R. V. in 1870. In 1872 the roads to Holland and Newaygo were completed. The city is looking forward to a highly prosperous era in the immediate future.

For much of the information contained in this sketch the editors are indebted to a pamphlet sketch of Grand Rapids in 1874 published by J. D. Dillenback.

THE GREAT PHYSICIAN AND SPECIALIST

DR. AIKIN,

Has permanently established elegant Offices and Dispensary at

45 Monroe St., Opp. (just above) Rathbun House, Grand Rapids,

And will continue to give the best scientific treatment for the cure of all varieties of Chronic Diseases, Medical and Surgical.

SPECIALTIES.—Diseases of the EYE and EAR, THROAT, LUNGS, HEART and NERVES, LIVER AND KIDNEY COMPLAINTS, DEFORMITIES, and all important, special cases that physicians in general practice have neither time to thoroughly investigate nor facilities to properly manage: such as Catarrh, Sore Eyes, Nervous Blindness, Deafness, Ear Discharges, Enlarged Tonsils, Loss of Voice, Consumption, Nervous and Physical Debility, Scrofula, Goitre, Hare-Lip, Fistula, Piles, Dropsy, etc., which his surpassing skill and experience enable Dr. Aikin to treat with almost universal success.

MEDICATED INHALATIONS, Dr. AIKIN'S improved Inhaler and Remedies for Catarrh, Asthma, Pain in the Chest, Hemorrhage, Weak Voice, Ulcerated Throat and any Disease of the Respiratory Organs, give immediate relief and are the most efficient known.

LADIES, Married or Single, can confidently consult the Doctor with certainty of easy, safe and speedy cure of Irregular, Painful or Surpressed Menses, Weakness, Leucorrhœa or Whites, Ulceration, Irritation, Ovarian and other diseases that make life miserable. Also the best Supporters, Preventives and Syringes supplied by mail or personally.

CANCERS, Tumors, Wens, etc., cured and eradicated, without the knife, by the mildest, quickest means. Call in season. Disfiguring Marks, Hair, Moles, Warts, etc., easily effaced.

Young Men, Middle-Aged and Old Men, Suffering from any debility or disease wearing on body and mind, whatever read or doctored, permanently cured of all symptoms and effects of early habits or excesses, and all private diseases. Seminal Weakness, Loss of Memory and Impotence, also, Stricture and Chronic Veneral diseases, soon and radically cured. Gentlemen will find Dr. AIKIN most skillful and trustworthy in all special cases. No Mercury or Quackery. Everything confidential. DR. AIKIN'S Treatment, Sanitary Rules and advice are worth $1000 capital to the unfortunate.

Call, or Address, N. J. AIKIN, M. D., 45 Monroe St., Grand Rapids, Mich.

IF YOU have any serious, obstinate disease or annoying symptoms, no matter how discouraged or how often disappointed, go and see the doctor, as you can rely upon him for most careful attention and certain cure. Do not suffer or delay. Remedies sent to any part of the country. Write for circulars.

DR. H. C. STEPHENSON BROS. & CO.,

MANUFACTURERS OF

Stephenson's Patent Truss Supporters,

For Deformities of the Spine, Hip, Knees, Ankles and Feet.

We guarantee satisfaction in every case, where remedies or instruments are available. Those suffering from impaired health, need not despair, but apply at the institute, where they will receive treatment, and improve after from one day to one week's medication, or being fitted with instruments.

This institute was established for the express purpose to supply the afflicted with scientific and reliable treatment, and is not to be classed with the numerous Quacks and Imposters that infest all larger cities.

All those requiring treatment will do well to call at the institute, or address

HANCOCK.

A large and thriving mining and manufacturing village, situated on the north shore of Portage lake, in Houghton county, just opposite the village of Houghton, with which it is connected by steam ferry. The village was first laid out in 1858, and its rapid growth and prosperity were occasioned by its being the location of the famous Quincy mine, being the most productive and prosperous in the upper peninsula, and still surpassed only by the wonderful Calumet and Hecla. Besides the Quincy, two other dividend-paying mines lie within the village limits—the Franklin and the Pewabic, now operated under one management as the Franklin-Pewabic mine. The amount of capital invested in these mines, with the dividends paid and the product for 1874, have been as follows:

	Capital invested.	Total dividends paid.	Product for 1874.
Quincy	$200,000	$1,660,000	1,811 tons
Franklin	380,000	240,000	771 "
Pewabic	240,000	400,000

Like Houghton, Hancock is situated on a side hill which rises to a height of 500 feet above the lake. It contains the extensive stamping mills of the Quincy mine, and 4 other stamp mills belonging to different mines in the vicinity, one large foundry and machine shop, copper smelting works, 2 steam saw mills and 4 churches, Congregational, Methodist, Catholic and Lutheran, and a large graded school.

Hancock is the southern terminus of the Mineral Range railway, a narrow or 3 foot gauge road, 12½ miles in length extending to Calumet, and a road, which for its financial success, has hardly been equaled by any railroad in the country.

Hancock contains a population of about 3,000. It is 36 miles northwest of L'Anse, the terminus of the M. H. & O. R. R., and about 100 from Marquette. Mail daily. Telegraph, Northwestern. Express, American. Thos. N. Lee, postmaster.
